

War Gas Story Propaganda Is Bad For U.S.

EDITOR'S NOTE — News that the United States had provided a nonlethal gas for use against guerrillas in South Viet Nam has stirred a tempest around the world. What forces figured in the storm of protest, and does the United States expect to overcome the damage done by the way the news initially was disclosed? John M. Hightower, chief of The AP's State Department staff, covers the situation in this news analysis.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has suffered a worldwide propaganda defeat on the use of nonlethal gas in the Vietnamese war, and U.S. officials doubt that their counter-offensive now under way can fully overcome the damage.

Communist propagandists are expected to try to keep the issue alive in spite of vehement denials by Secretary of State Dean Rusk that the United States has engaged or ever intended to engage in gas warfare in Viet Nam.

Suspicion Aroused
A more serious problem, officials here believe, is that in allied and neutral countries some residue of suspicion is likely to remain in the minds of many people because denials and explanations seldom catch up with an initial blunder.

The announcement touched off a worldwide furor which brought criticism and denunciation of the United States. Questions were raised as to whether the United States was violating a 1925 Geneva agreement outlawing gas warfare. Communist radios in Moscow and the Far East accused this country of barbarity and brutality.

The storm hit official Washington with stunning surprise. Apparently no one in high position had foreseen such an uproar or given any serious thought to the danger of raising the specter of gas warfare when various types of riot-control gas were sent to the South Vietnamese forces in mid-1962.

Explanation Too Late
An initial explanation from the Pentagon began to develop the idea that riot-control gases were those actually involved, but it took more than 24 hours to mount the U.S. counter-offensive.

On Tuesday Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara held a news conference to say that the gases used were essentially police-type tear gas and that they had been employed to save the lives of civilians among whom guerrilla fighters had taken refuge. He emphasized that the gases had been used only on two or three occasions.

McNamara said the British

Moon's Craters May Be Landing Spots Of Future

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists poring over some of the 5,814 photos taken by Ranger 9 say they indicate the moon's crater rims may provide future astronauts with safer landing areas than would crater plains.

This possibility, advanced Wednesday night by scientists at a Jet Propulsion Laboratory news conference, was based on evidence of possible volcanic activity shown in pictures televised by Ranger 9 Wednesday just before it crashed into the 60-mile-wide crater Alphonsus.

Alphonsus, in a highland area near the center of the face of the moon, is the site of red flashes which some astronomers have interpreted as hot gases escaping through fissures in the lunar crust.

Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper, chief of the scientific team, said many of the thousands of craterlets seen for the first time on Alphonsus' floor were not caused by meteorite impact. "They can only be the result of volcanic activity," he said.

Surprisingly, the smoothest and hardest areas on the moon seem to be crater rims — where there are spots apparently level enough for landings — and ridges found on crater floors, Kuiper said.

Kuiper said he believes the floors of large craters and many of the moon's broad plains are composed of solidified frothy lava which might collapse under the weight of explorers.

"It might well be better" to look to the crater walls for potential landing sites," Kuiper said.

The pictures released Wednesday night were taken by cameras other than the one which televised 200 wide-angle photographs live over networks during Ranger 9's final plunge.

Red Guerrillas Warned Before Bomber Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Advance tipoffs may have reduced the effectiveness of some U.S. and South Vietnamese air strikes against targets in Communist North Viet Nam, sources said today.

They said there is reason to believe that South Vietnamese Communist agents and sympathizers have been able to obtain information on impending strikes and to radio word to North Viet Nam.

One official said "there are too many hands" involved in preparing the strikes.

Phone Line Tapped
This makes it easier for Viet Cong adherents in the South Vietnamese government, military and communications structure to get word of the operation being planned, he said.

Sources said U.S. authorities had been urging the South Vietnamese government to screen its personnel more carefully and stringently.

Although much official communication is conducted over military radio, safeguarded by various means, some concern was expressed here about the use of telephone lines and their vulnerability to tapping.

Security breaches have bedeviled operations inside South Viet Nam from the beginning. Big-scale helicopter-borne attacks have been compromised by Viet Cong agents learning of them and warning the guerrillas.

There have been 11 announced U.S. and South Vietnamese air attacks against military targets in North Viet Nam since Feb. 7.

Generally, these strikes have been described as successful. Defense officials have claimed better than 70 per cent destruction of some objectives and in certain cases virtual obliteration of ammunition depots, barracks and other installations.

However, some military officials here feel that heavier casualties might have been inflicted on North Vietnamese soldiers if they had been caught by surprise.

There is little reliable information here on the number of North Vietnamese killed in the air strikes.

But many officials doubt the toll was very high. They believe the soldiers were forewarned enough to leave the barracks areas and take cover.

War Forum At U.M. Gets 3 Bomb Scares

Hero's Welcome Given Astronauts

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The two-man crew of the world's first maneuverable spaceship, the Molly Brown, returned today to the embarkation point of their history-making three-orbit flight.

The plane bringing astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young from the recovery ship, the carrier Intrepid, touched down at 9:28 a.m.

An Air Force band blared in welcome the overture to the Broadway musical, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," and microphones. His mother walked on his other side. Young displayed a happy, boyish grin.

"I'm ready for the next flight," Young said.

Families Waiting
The wives and children of the two astronauts were waiting for them at the bioastronautics building at the Cape, where the astronauts were to undergo an extensive physical examination.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration public information officer said, "Mrs. Grissom did not wish to appear here in public." He said Mrs. Young agreed to the plan to meet her husband later, in private.

The astronauts' plane set down at Cape Kennedy almost exactly 48 hours after the time when a Titan rocket launched them on an 81,000-mile flight in the world's first proven maneuverable spacecraft.

They were to remain on the Cape for extensive physical checkups and debriefings until 6 p.m., when they will ride in a motorcade to the Gemini news center in Cocoa Beach for a nationally televised news conference.

"All Talked Out"
President Johnson will give Grissom and Young his personal congratulations Friday.

The two planes pulled up to the edge of the landing strip, where microphones were sitting in front of a trailer.

Grissom got out of the first plane, Young out of the second one. They strolled quickly to the microphones. Grissom was the first to speak to the assembled crowd.

"I'm all talked out," he said, drawing a laugh. "I've been going through tests for a couple of days. I'll see you all later this evening."

Civil Rights 'Victory Day' Hike Ends In Montgomery

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Hundreds of persons from across the nation — including stage and screen performers — joined thousands of civil rights demonstrators today in the final six-mile march to the Alabama Capitol.

It was "victory day" by proclamation of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leader of the 50-mile highway pilgrimage to protest denial of Negro voting rights.

It began at 12:48 p.m., Sunday in Selma before Browns Chapel A.M.E. Church. Federalized Alabama National Guardsmen and regular Army troops called up by President Johnson provided a heavy guard — a guard maintained vigilantly through the days and nights of the journey.

The end was set for 12:30 p.m., in front of the Alabama Capitol where an elaborate program of entertainment, reports, speeches and singing was arranged by civil rights leaders.

Mayor Earl D. James called on the city's 150,000 residents to uphold law and order "so our image will remain untarnished before the world."

There was no indication from Gov. George C. Wallace that he would receive demonstrators who want to hand him a voter-right petition.

His executive secretary, Cecil Jackson, said that women employes of the state would not be required to report to their jobs because of the march.

The demonstrators tramped into the city Wednesday about 4,000 strong. They were singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and waving flags from nearly every state.

It was raining. Negro school children cheered when they moved past and Negro motorists shouted "freedom."

They celebrated after nightfall. The Justice Department estimated 30,000 persons packed an athletic field at the City of St. Jude, a Roman Catholic complex containing a school, hospital and church, to see and hear many nationally known entertainers.

Big Payments Kept Up By US

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States intends to go ahead with large contributions to the United Nations despite the failure of the General Assembly to lower the boom on its big-power delinquents, U.S. sources said today.

This means U.S. payments of about $200 million this year to the United Nations and related agencies, regardless of whether the Soviet Union, France and others in arrears pay their assessed debts.

President Johnson was urged today by Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., to put "the strength of his office" behind a workable financial formula for the United Nations with which the Soviets can agree.

In a prepared Senate speech, Aiken said U.S. efforts to force Russia to pay its peacekeeping assessments have "collapsed like a punctured balloon."

Aiken said it would "definitely be in our national interest" if Johnson would "instruct his representative to the United Nations to reconcile our position with the Soviet and French position on the assessment of members for peacekeeping functions."

The basic reason Washington plans to go ahead with its large U.N. contributions is that administration strategists rate the U.N. system too important for let it founder. A feeble United Nations, they say, is just what the Communists want.

Canada May Get Election In June

OTTAWA (AP) — After 23 months in office, Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson is weighing the possibility of calling an election in June in the hope of gaining a parliamentary majority for his Liberal party.

Although prospects for a smashing Liberal victory are not good, some party strategists see even more of a gamble to postponing the election.

In fact, the opposition might force an election by a vote of no confidence if the prime minister hesitates too long.

John G. Diefenbaker, 69, Conservative leader, appears more enthusiastic about an election than Pearson, possibly because Diefenbaker's leadership is threatened. He may not lead the Conservatives if the election is deferred.

Pearson has never taken much to campaigning. He is 68 and is not overly enthusiastic about a campaign next year or the year after. Other factors, however, weigh against an early election.

The Liberals now hold only 129 of the 265 seats in the House

then swung into the "Air Force Hymn" and "Anchors Aweigh."

Wearing Coveralls

Grissom and Young were wearing blue fatigue coveralls with NASA emblems on the left breast. They were greeted by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Young of Orlando, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Grissom of Mitchell, Ind.

Also waiting to greet them were fellow astronauts, Alan B. Shepard Jr., the nation's first man in space; Walter M. Schirra Jr., Thomas P. Stafford and Donald K. Slayton.

The astronauts arrived in two planes. Each sat in the copilot's seat of his plane.

Grissom had his right arm around his father as he walked from the plane to the bank of

Fiscal Problem Dumped Back On Romney's Desk

LANSING (AP)—House Democrats dumped the problem of fiscal reform back on Gov. George Romney's desk today with an invitation to "make specific proposals to the legislature."

Romney's response was expected at a news conference this morning.

Passage of a fiscal reform program by the legislature this year, was given less than a 50-50 chance by the chairman of the House general taxation committee.

Chairman George Montgomery, D-Detroit, said the committee has, or soon will have, ready a battery of fiscal reform bills to serve as vehicles for Romney's — or anyone else's — program.

The Democratic invitation Wednesday followed the first meeting of the House caucus on fiscal reform and was the third tax reform development in less than a week.

Montgomery introduced a five-per cent state income tax "vehicle" bill Wednesday a few hours before the caucus and the House passed a controversial senior citizens property tax rebate bill last week.

House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, promised Romney that Democrats would "accept" full responsibility for having the Governor's program prepared in bill form as he directs.

Democrats would be willing to hold public hearings on Romney's proposals across the state, he added.

New Bill Aids Amish Schools

LANSING (AP)—A new bill to allow non-certified teachers to teach in Amish schools was introduced in the House Wednesday by Rep. Donald Holbrook Jr., R-Clare.

Helbrook's measure would allow the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to grant permission for the hiring of non-certified teachers in private schools in the first through eighth grades under certain specified conditions not contained in previous legislative proposals.

Among the conditions are that such permission could be granted only to schools conducted and attended solely by persons of a single faith. The religious beliefs of the faith also must require that children of members be taught only by those of the same faith.

A group of Amish have threatened to leave the state if they are not allowed to conduct their school in their own way.

They have a teacher with only a grade school education teaching in their school at Camden and she is without a certificate from the Department of Public Instruction.

Policies Of US Denounced In All-Night Rally

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Despite three bomb scares, participants in an all-night "teach-in" at the University of Michigan protested American involvement in Viet Nam late Wednesday and early today.

Some 2,000 students had to evacuate four auditoriums in Angell Hall twice after police received threats. Another bomb scare was reported earlier during the screening of a Viet Cong-produced movie in a men's dormitory. Police found nothing.

The meetings were part of a 12-hour program of rallies, speeches and discussions organized by some 200 U. of M. faculty members.

After discussing U.S. policies through the night, some 400 students and faculty members dispersed today after voting to make the "teach-in" a national movement called the "Faculty and Student Committee to Stop the War in Viet Nam."

The third bomb scare turned into an impromptu rally as students streamed out of the hall.

Raids Called Illegal
Reflecting on the bomb threat, Prof. William Livant told the students that deepening American involvement in Viet Nam could result in actual bomb explosions at home, just as bombs exploded in Paris during the Algerian War.

"A poisonous policy aboard will debase life at home," he said.

Arthur Waskow, of the Institute for Policy Studies, in Washington said the United States had reversed itself in Viet Nam on two previous commitments.

Waskow cited the raids on North Viet Nam as raids across borders. This kind of action, Waskow said, was declared illegal by the U. S. during the 1956 Suez crisis.

He added that the United States, in using gas warfare, is violating a pledge by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who said the United States would never be the first to use gas.

No Conclusion
At a press conference, several professors who had organized the "teach-in," stressed the need for changing America's policy, but said they had not reached any conclusion on specifics. They emphasized the protest action provided a forum for presenting views other than the government's.

During a midnight rally, Edinburg-born professor of economics Kenneth Boulding told students "I became an American citizen because I thought America was different. It has great moral feeling which gives it strength."

"But we have learned from the communists how to use violence. We have joined them. This thing will destroy us, God will destroy us," he added.

Earlier, anthropology professor John Donahue of Michigan State University, who has spent several years doing field work in Viet Nam, told applauding students the current Vietnamese conflict is "a civil war." He said it is not an invasion from the north and added that the people of the south have joined in a war of liberation from the central government in Saigon.

Wednesday, a freshman ROTC student, Kyle Mock of Glenview, Ill., denounced the U. S. and said he could not in good conscience continue to wear its uniform.

An El Paso, Tex., freshman, John Smith, launched a 48-hour hunger strike in protest over American "oppression of the Vietnamese struggle for independence and self-determination."

Rep. West Trial Set For May 5

DETROIT (AP) — Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis Wednesday adjourned until May 5 the trial of former State Rep. Daniel W. West on charges involving illegal registration of voters and city income tax fraud.

West, who received a majority of votes in his reelection bid last Nov. 3 only to be refused his seat by the House, also has been accused of federal income tax irregularities and of masquerading as a noted New York attorney.

MSU Concert Set Tonight

The first of two concert performances in Escanaba by outstanding collegiate glee clubs features Michigan State University's "Singing Statesmen" at 8 o'clock tonight at the William W. Oliver Auditorium in the Escanaba Area Junior High School.

Second performance of the festival — the Wayne State University Men's Glee Club — will be given Tuesday. Same time, same place, same ticket.

Under an agreement worked out between the Delta-Schoolcraft MSU Alumni Club and the Escanaba Area High School music department, sponsors of the concerts, one ticket provides admission to both concerts.

Advance tickets have been on sale by Alumni Club members and music students. Tickets will also be available at the door.

The MSU Glee Club, under the direction of Loren Jones, is expected to offer a varied program of college, popular, classical, semi-classical and Broadway show tunes in its program. Several "splinter groups" from the main organization will also sing during the evening.

League Submits Resouces Study

Results of past and present League studies were given to Escanaba League of Women Voters members this week by Mrs. Frank Neumeier and members of her committee on Continuing Responsibilities, Mrs. Walter Arntzen and Mrs. Vernon Ihlenfeld.

This program, predating the State convention of the League, enables all local Leagues in the state to review League positions on important issues, and to select their program for the coming year.

On the national level a study of Apportionment is under consideration. Other national items carried by Leagues are Support of the United Nations, Water Resources, and Foreign Economic Policy.

On the state level Welfare, County Home Rule, and Tax Reform have been important issues.

City Policies
On the local level, the study for the past year has been Natural Resources as they affect the Escanaba Area. A summary of this study, and answers given to questions which had been presented to the City of Escanaba were given by Mrs. Marvin Marshall and Mrs. William Taylor. According to these answers, no definite official policy has yet been formulated on such subjects as replacement and maintenance of city trees, expansion of parks and maintenance of natural areas within the city.

In reply to specific questions put by the League's natural resources committee, the City of Escanaba administration advised that:

Escanaba has not had a forestry department since 1957 but the Public Works Department checks annually for dead and dangerous trees and branches. There is annual spraying (repeated if necessary) to control aphid infestation. Tree replacement is decided by the superintendent of public works.

Sand Island
Use, population growth, and demand determine park expansion in the city. The city has a considerable area on the west side of the city which could be set aside for future parks if there is the need. The city has many parks and playgrounds and playfields in the platted area.

Portage Point that lies within the city limits is a part of the Menominee State Forest except for one private lot, and by agreement with the City Council has become a wildlife sanctuary where game is protected.

The Planning Commission in a September 1964 meeting considered Sand Island's future and reported:

"Sand Island should be developed. Trees planted for a windbreak, picnic tables and stoves installed, the road improved, but the rustic nature of the area preserved. Sod or rough grass planted to prevent the blowing of sand, but otherwise the shore should be left as much as possible in the natural state."

There are no plans by the city to reactivate the Camp Bidaban area on the southwest side of the city, occasionally used by Scout groups.

Water Pollution
On the question of pollution control in the boat harbor, the City replied:

"No pollution of local yacht harbor because of sewage or garbage being dumped into it by boats. Bacteria count of water taken into the water plant is checked daily; if any pollution were present, it would be detected immediately. There is a two-mile quarantine area around the intake for our water system, and all commercial boats entering Bay de Noc regularly are aware of this, and so far as we know obey these rules."

Replying to another question on the screening of industrial plants by planting trees and shrubs, the City advised the League that there are now open spaces and that because of the type of industry we have there is no need to enforce screen planting.

"Should an industry that would be objectionable to the neighborhood locate within the city, the zoning controls we have would be sufficient to insure proper screening."

At the League's annual meeting on April 1, members will choose their program for the coming year. This will be a dinner meeting at Delona's, and for reservations Mrs. Leonard Erickson may be called at ST6-2988.

Bell Spending Breaks Record

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. reported that in 1964 it spent more money than ever before on new construction and at the same time instituted rate cut-backs and service improvements adding up to more than $7 million in annual customer savings.

President William M. Day said the "continued vigor of Michigan's business and industrial activity" made it necessary to increase the 1964 construction program three times to meet demand. The final figure was $107 million — highest in Michigan Bell history and $2 million above the previous record set in 1957.

"In 1964 we were able to reduce rates and introduce service improvements that save our customers $7.4 million a year," Day said. "Such changes since 1960 are now saving our customers about $10 million annually."

(The $10 million figure does not include an additional savings of more than $2.2 million in intrastate long distance rate reductions effective Feb. 1 of this year.)

The company reported 1964 net income of $58.3 million, compared with $50.6 million the previous year. Earnings moved up 19 cents to $1.78 a share.

In 1964, Michigan Bell completed or began work on five new buildings and building additions in 26 communities. With average company investment brought to $863.5 million, the number of telephones Michigan Bell served at the end of 1964 totaled 3,428,939, a net gain of about 170,000.

On the average day throughout the year, Michigan Bell handled more than 17 million calls, and for the entire year switched more than 158 million long distance conversations — both record figures.

Among new services were Metro 21, an optional calling plan that knits 80 communities in metropolitan Detroit into one giant local calling area, and Budget Service, a low-cost offering which allows 20 outgoing calls a month at a charge of less than 10 cents a day. New devices, highlighted introduction of Touch-Tone telephones, instruments fitted with 10 buttons instead of the conventional dial. Customers can "tap" out a telephone number more than twice as fast as dialing one.

Wages paid to Michigan Bell's 22,000 employees rose from $146.6 million in 1963 to $153.4 million last year. Operating taxes totalling slightly more than $82 million constituted the company's second largest cost of doing business.

"The 10 per cent federal excise tax on telephone service cost Michigan Bell customers $35 million in 1964," Day said. "The company has taken the position that this tax is unfair and discriminatory and should be among the first to receive Congressional attention."

Society Hears About Antiques

People who have an interest in the collection of antiques are also those most likely to visit the Delta County Historical Society Museum, the Historical Society was told at its meeting at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce building Wednesday night.

The relationship of antique hobbyists and historical researchers may be only casually similar but it does help build Museum attendance, Arni Dunathan of Escanaba told the Society.

Dunathan is a member of the teaching staff of Bay de Noc Community College, is a native of Escanaba and commented that he recalled as a child being "haunted away to Historical Society summer picnics" by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Dunathan, 2009 12th Ave. S.

Charles Folio, president of the Historical Society, introduced the speaker, who was educated at Northwestern University and Michigan State University. Dunathan displayed a number of items from his collection ranging from antique glass and copper to hand-crafted wood salt boxes and early American firearms, including a Kentucky rifle.

The interest in antiques and the business of catering to that interest is a growing one, Dunathan said. To the users of museums, to students and scholars, antiques become "tools of history" to advance the body of knowledge and dramatize the image of American heritage.

The Historical Society heard reports on plans for opening the Historical Museum at Sand Point in May in conjunction with the observance of Michigan Week; and on programs that will include a summer picnic meeting at Nahma.

Frank Bender Jr., Soo Hill, chairman of the museum committee, expressed appreciation to Leo Laviolette of Escanaba for a recent gift to the Society, including an 1896 railway time table. This will be an item of interest in a proposed transportation display, Bender said.

There are more frozen food lockers in Iowa than in any other state of the Union.

Jr. Achievers' Workshop Called

Junior Achievement members from three Upper Peninsula areas will gather here for the second annual JA Conference on Saturday, April 3.

About 120 high school students enrolled in the JA program are expected to attend. They will be welcomed by Mayor George Rusch.

Workshop sessions will be held in Bay de Noc Community College. Registration will start at 10:15 a. m. (EST) and lunch will be in the College cafeteria.

The meeting is scheduled to end about 3 p. m. Discussion of problems relating to business management, sales, and production will be held; and there will be exchange of ideas in connection with company operations and policies. Each JA company will have a display of its products.

Conference arrangements are being made here by Dwayne Burak, Escanaba JA program manager. Don Bowers is JA manager at Marquette and George Trebilcock is program manager for the Iron Mountain area companies.

Junior Achievement is a national program designed to provide American youth with experience and understanding in the free enterprise system. Industrial leaders of the community serve as advisers.

The 1964 conference was held at Marquette on the Northern Michigan University campus.

U.P. Session Of Law Officers On At Marquette

Law enforcement officers of the Upper Peninsula are meeting today at Marquette and will hear a talk by Attorney General Frank Kelley of Lansing.

Nicholas P. Chapekis, Delta County prosecuting attorney, is also on the program.

Attending the meeting from this area besides the prosecutor are Escanaba Police Chief Harold Finman and Officers John Robitaille, Robert Jacke and Miles White; and Cpl. Paul Uerling of the Gladstone State Police post.

Knights' Class Honors Murphy

Escanaba Knights of Columbus will confer major degrees in ceremonies here Sunday, April 4, on a class of 50 candidates which will be named the Gervase T. Murphy Class in memory of the late leader of the order in Michigan.

Mr. Murphy was well known throughout the Upper Peninsula for his work in the Knights of Columbus and for his civic works. One of the area's famed toastmasters, he was a former newspaperman at Calumet and operated a garage and automobile sales agency there for years before his retirement and devotion of his talents to the work of the Knights of Columbus and public agencies like the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, which he served as manager.

Gervase Murphy died Nov. 3, 1963. His Irish parents were Copper Country pioneers and he attended school at Laurium and joined the Calumet News after graduation from high school in 1916. He was a youthful four-minute speaker in World War I's bond campaigns.

He left journalism join Woolworth, then joined a Calumet brokerage firm of Gay & Sturgis, and later the Houghton County Electric Light Co. and the Calumet & Hecla, Inc.

In the Knights of Columbus he held every office in the order including supreme director, a responsibility he discharged for 15 years. During this time he was one of 15 men in charge of Columbianism in the nation.

It has been estimated that he aided in the initiation of 20,000 knights in Michigan, Wisconsin, Montana, Canada and other jurisdictions. He made hundreds of speeches for the order and at his death held the Fourth Degree, Hennepin unit jurisdiction in five states. He was also a leader in Lions club work in the Copper Country and served as district governor, and was exalted ruler of the Elks Lodge at Calumet. Here for the program which will include attendance at the 9:30 a. m. Mass at St. Anthony's Church, Wells, will be John F. Lahaie of St. Ignace, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus, the main speaker; Alfred W. Lyons, past grand knight of Council 1616, Kalamazoo and past state deputy; who will be master of ceremonies; and John A. Matthews of Manistique, past grand knight of Manistique Council 2026 and past district deputy who is state Catholic activities chairman. Also here for the ceremonies will be KC state officers Kenneth M. Chapin, Detroit, secretary; Leo F. Everest, Muskegon Heights, treasurer; Frank W. Lawrence, Flint advocate; John A. Fisher, Detroit, past State deputy; William A. Cratty, Ferndale, warden; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Nolan McKeivitt, Marquette, state chaplain; Vincent T. O'Meara, Dearborn; executive secretary; Wilfred T. Connelly, Detroit, supreme director; and William T. Buckridge, Boysville, public relations director. Irving Houle, diocesan membership chairman of the Knights of Columbus, is general chairman of the committee in charge.

Studies made in the United States and Europe at widely different periods of time all show that virtually no children under the age of 15 commit suicide, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Newspaper Gain In Circulation Tops Since '46

NEW YORK (AP)—Editor & Publisher reports daily newspapers in the United States increased their circulation during 1964 by 1.5 million copies, the largest single annual increase since 1946.

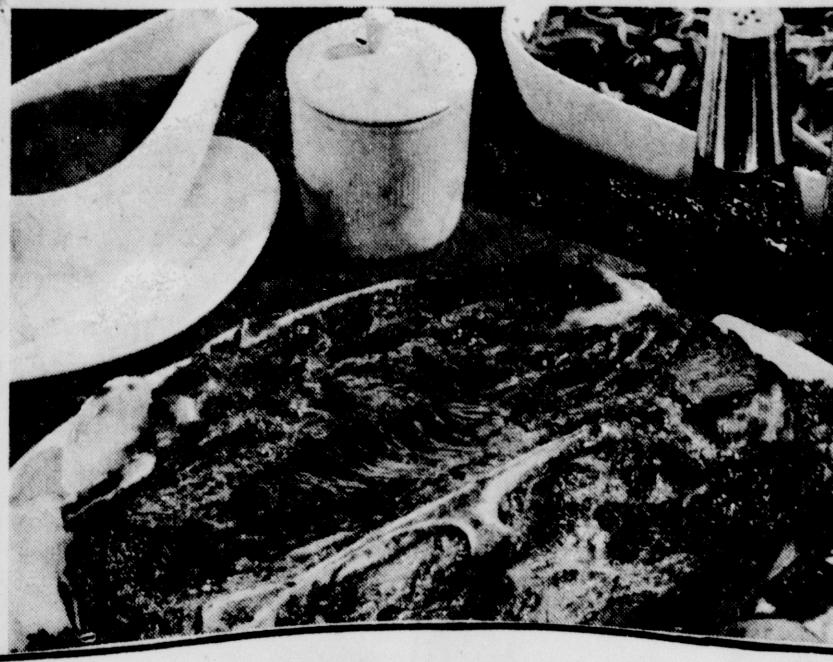

The trade magazine's figures are contained in the 1965 Editor & Publisher International Year Book, which now is on its way to press.

Total daily circulation for 1964 averaged a record 60,412,266. This is a 2.5 per cent increase over 1963 and 20 per cent higher than the first post-war total in 1946.

Total morning paper circulation increased about 900,000, or 3.8 per cent to 24,364,734, while evening paper circulation increased about 600,000, or 1.6 per cent to 36,047,532.

In the Sunday field, 561 newspapers showed a circulation of 48,383,019, a gain of 1.5 million, or 3.2 per cent over 1963.

The Boy Scout movement began in England in 1908, when Lieut. Gen. Baden-Powell, of the British cavalry, wrote a book called "Scouting for Boys."

Oldsters Tax Relief

Democrats in the Michigan Legislature have won approval, 62-37, of a bill to give property tax relief to persons 65 and older.

The bill passed by the House faces a harder look in the Senate and a probable veto by Governor Romney if it goes to his desk in its present form. Romney has urged tax relief for the elderly but regards the Democrats' something-for-everybody bill as irresponsible.

The Democrats have about a two-thirds majority in both houses, but Senate leaders have shown more conservative outlook than their fellow party members in the house and Republicans are hopeful of a Senate coalition which will limit the tax forgiveness. (House Minority Leader Waldron (R-Grosse Pointe) charges that the Democrats are launched on wild spending with no tax reform to put the state in financial difficulty by 1966 and embarrass Republican Governor Romney.)

The already heavily amended bill is estimated by Democrats to cost $26 million not including administrative costs. The Republicans think it will cost $40 million. Senate Majority Leader Dziedzic (D-Detroit) says the bill will be considered by a Democratic caucus to try for a consensus.

Dziedzic said some sort of senior citizen tax relief bill will be passed, but he added that he doesn't think that a person earning $50,000 a year should get the homestead tax relief being considered. The bill as proposed forgives $2,500 of assessed valuation of homesteads valued at $10,000 or less owned by persons over 65 who have lived in Michigan for 7 years.

If they rented a home or apartment they would receive a direct cash payment from the state equal to the amount of tax exemption for homesteads. Only one exemption would be made for married couples and only one payment to each dwelling or homestead.

The bill doesn't make the appropriations necessary to its implementation and would not become operative until after determination of payments in March, 1966 and not then unless the Legislature appropriates money to meet the cost. Rep. Einar Erlandson (D-Escanaba), chairman of the House Ways & Means Committee, didn't vote on the measure when it was passed.

No one questions the need of some form of tax relief to the elderly, now that property taxes are so high, but the Democrats' push for "forgive now, pay later" must cause concern about responsible legislation.

Nice People

The next time some conspicuous act of cruelty, violence or selfishness prompts you to wonder what's happening to the human race, please consider these evidences that people aren't all bad:

- More than 200,000 persons sent messages of sympathy and encouragement to singer Nat King Cole when his fatal illness became known.

- Even in these days of the population explosion there are many more adoption requests than orphanages and similar institutions can fill.

- In city after city, time after time, news stories of individuals or families in dire need invariably evoke heartwarming response—and much of the help comes from people who have pitifully little themselves.

- When President Kennedy was assassinated, contributions flowed in from all over the country not only for the widow of the policeman who also was shot down by the assassin, but for the widow of the assassin.

- Any stray dog in the city pound whose plight is publicized in print or on the air is almost certainly assured a good home—and the offers come from scores of families.

- Anyone who has experienced sorrow or misfortune cannot soon forget the kindness and help of friends and neighbors.

It is true that some people are cold and selfish and that some are indifferent. But the evidence is overwhelming that the kind of warm-hearted folks so far outnumber the others that the only objective conclusion has to be that the old world is a pretty good place to live, after all.

Mechanically Mean

A newly patented parking meter, reports Science Service, automatically turns back to zero when a car pulls out of the parking space so that nobody else can freeloan on the unused time.

It does it by sending out ultrasonic pulses every so often. If they are not reflected back by a car in front of it, the meter flips back to zero.

This is not the only sneaky thing this machine is capable of. When a vehicle's parking time is up, it screams for a cop. It does the same if someone tampers with it. All it doesn't do is sneer.

On the plus side, however, the meter will send out a signal to let cruising drivers know when a parking space is available.

Thanks a lot.

What My Faith Means To Me

By AHTI N. WAAK
Faith Lutheran Church
Rock

Ahti N. Waak

God is the Maker of heaven and earth. He makes man and can also take him away. He who believes in his Son, Jesus Christ, will be saved.

God loves us and we in turn love God. As a result of this we should also love our brother men. God created men as equals and if all mankind would only heed the teachings of the Gospel, we would do away with all wars, uprisings, poverty, fear and all the other troubles that today possess our earth.

Jesus Christ sent his twelve apostles to teach the ways of God, to heal the sick and help the needy. We too as laymen can do this by loving our neighbors, helping those in need, and teaching the ways of God.

This can be done by beginning in our own communities and then expanding to include all mankind. As the Apostle Paul wrote to the Romans, "So we, though many, are one body in Christ, and individually members one of another."

Getting Harder to Whistle "Dixie"

Bleak For GOP

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Republican leaders trying to lift their party from defeat have looked to scattered 1965 elections as possible stepping stones to the obviously crucial vote tests of 1966. But the 1965 outlook has already turned bleak.

The big ones this year are, of course, the New York mayoralty, and the governorships of New Jersey and Virginia. Republican hopes are terribly thin in all three races.

What shreds of promise the GOP does have are to be found in New Jersey, where aggressive State Sen. Wayne Dumont has been chosen by party leaders to oppose Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes.

Like most governors, Hughes is plagued with budget and tax problems, not to mention all the other burdens that today afflict a highly urbanized state. Nevertheless, Democratic sources believe, with evident good reason, that he is solidly placed to win a second term.

Dumont is a two-time loser as a party independent in previous governorship primaries. He was not the first choice of some key moderates in New Jersey. He may have primary opposition. And his old advocacy of a state sales tax may not help him in a state that long has shunned that levy.

Yet, with all the drawbacks, Dumont must be put down as the best major prospect Republicans have in 1965.

A secret parley was held recently in Roanoke by party chiefs hopeful of finding a good runner for the Virginia governorship. Nothing has surfaced yet. But at best the hope can only be for a respectable vote showing. Even this is elusive. Rarely has a Republican nominee for governor approached or gone beyond 40 per cent of the vote in Virginia.

The announced Democratic candidate, Lt. Gov. Mills Godwin, choice of Sen. Harry Byrd, has to be viewed as a nearly automatic winner unless the GOP comes up with a dazzling figure and totally unforeseen calculations enter the equation.

In the New York mayoralty arena, nothing is happening to revive party spirits dashed when the two leading Republican prospects—Sen. Jacob Javits and Rep. John Lindsay—pulled out.

No matter what fine words are uttered to surround the eventual GOP nominee with an aura of hope, Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner seems sure to trounce him and take a fourth term.

Probably Wagner would also

Questions And Answers

Q—When Archimedes, the Greek scientist, discovered the principle of specific gravity what word did he utter?

A—Eureka, meaning "I have found it."

Q—What was the nationality of the famed poet and playwright T. S. Eliot?

A—He was American-born but spent most of his adult life in Britain and became a British subject in 1927.

Q—Why is Colorado known as the "Mother of Rivers?"

A—Because more rivers rise in Colorado than in any other state.

have beaten Javits or Lindsay, though Javits is represented as believing that an investment of money, effort and time commensurate with the challenge could have paid off for him.

The thing about the New York mayoralty race is that a Javits or Lindsay candidacy would have told an increasingly urbanized nation of voters that the Republican party was prepared to lavish its best vote-getters on an effort to win back the big cities.

The symbolic value of this gesture, even if it proved only that, would have been immense for a party badly shut out of the urban centers.

Not only in this race but in the New Jersey and Virginia governorships as well the moment called out for daring effort, for imaginative choices which would stir in the party and the electorate a widening conviction that Republicans are ready for a big turn upward.

Basically, the odds were not good at the outset in any of the three big races. Defeat could easily be rationalized. But in the party's serious national plight, lack of zest and bold planning cannot be so quickly excused.

At least in New York and New Jersey, the evidence in hand suggests that in 1965 the first moves incident to a broad party rebuilding have fallen prey to the narrow, often personal concerns of Republicans who find it hard to see beyond their own back yards.

It Happened On This Date

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, March 25, the 84th day of 1966. There are 281 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1911, the Triangle Waist Company fire occurred in a 10-story loft building in New York City; 147 lives were lost.

On this date In 1776, Gen. George Washington was awarded the first Congressional Medal.

In 1865, Confederate forces captured Ft. Stedman, Va.

In 1939, Adolf Hitler announced the German people would stand shoulder to shoulder with the battle-proved Italian nation.

In 1942, Japanese bombers opened attacks on Bataan and Georgetown.

In 1945, the U.S. 3rd Army crossed the Main River 27 miles east of the Rhine Bridgehead.

Ten years ago—Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri said he would not enter any presidential primaries in his attempt to win the Democratic presidential Corridor.

Five years ago—The Israeli-Egyptian Mixed Armistice commission held Egypt responsible for a grenade attack on a gathering in Patish, Israel.

One year ago—The British set aside an acre at Runnymede, the site of the Magna Carta signing, as a memorial to President John F. Kennedy.

The Doctor Says:

Throat Cancer Curable

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q—What are the symptoms of throat cancer? Would it show up in an X ray? How is it diagnosed?

A—Cancer of the throat with no involvement of the larynx would cause some difficulty in swallowing. Pain usually develops late in the course of the disease, when it is too late to remove the tumor completely. Since your doctor can see your throat with or without the use of special mirrors, X rays would not be used in the diagnosis. If such a cancer is present, early and complete removal offers hope of cure.

Q—Would walking in my stocking feet in the house cause a sore throat or a cold?

A—Colds and sore throats are caused by germs or viruses in your respiratory tract. Walking in your stocking feet would not cause an infection but, if the floor were cold or drafty, that might lower your resistance to these germs.

Q—How can a person with no regular family doctor find out which physician in his town is most experienced in the treatment of a given disease?

A—Your question points up the advantages of having a regular family doctor who can always refer you to the proper specialist when necessary. Since you don't have a family doctor your best bet is to call your county medical society. The secretary there will give you two or three names of men well qualified in the field you are interested in and leave the final choice to you.

Q—I am plagued with things inside my left eye the size and shape of a small "O". They move across my field of vision when I move my eye. Can anything be done for this?

A—What you see is the silhouette of a few loose cells in the jelly-like substance that fills most of your eyeball. These floaters are always most noticeable when you are looking at a bright background such as the sky or a sheet of white paper. They are harmless and do not affect the keenness of your vision. They will probably settle after a while in a spot where you will no longer see them but later, like an old movie, they may come back. Don't worry about them.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Deal Is Made On Tax Losses

LANSING (AP) — The State Tax Commission has agreed to halve the dollar losses imposed on local governments by its new business property depreciation schedules.

In return, legislators agreed to kill a bill that would have rescinded the commission's new schedules.

The agreement was hammered out Tuesday and today among the Senate Taxation Committee, State Tax Commission, Chairman Robert Purnell and the leaders of the schedule-rescinding bill, Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkeley, and Rep. Joseph Snyder, D-St. Clair Shores.

Levin and Snyder have maintained the new depreciation schedules would cost local governments, especially those in Oakland and Macomb Counties, about $10.5 million.

Purnell said the commission would entertain requests from the state's 1,800 local assessors to lessen the impact of the new schedules.

He said the basic approach to such requests would be to levy assessments halfway between last year's and what has been brought on by the new schedules for 1965.

All parties agreed the new depreciation schedules would take effect in 1966.

Purnell said all requests for review would have to be in his hands by Wednesday.

He said he expected nearly all the requests would come from Oakland and Macomb counties.

The agreement came only hours before the Senate was to vote on the schedule-rescinding bill.

"This is a good faith agreement," said Snyder. "we're going to accept it even though we know that by pulling the bill we can do nothing further in legislation this year."

Dear Ann Landers: I am a newcomer to your country and have a few questions which may seem silly to girls who have grown up here.

When my date calls for me what should I do with him? If I am not ready, do I shout, "Please sit down," or what? If I am ready, do I ask him to be seated? If so, for how long? Should I encourage him to speak with other members of my family the first time he comes to our home or would it be best to wait until the second or third date? Should I offer him a cup of coffee?

Customs vary according to the country and I don't want to frighten a young man away with too much, or too little, attention. Thank you. — SAN FRAN

Dear Ann: A young man appreciates it if the young woman is ready when he arrives. If he shows up early, ask another member of the family to greet him and visit until you appear.

But speed it up, Toots. He did not come to your home to chat with your Aunt Tillie. Skip the coffee, and be on your way.

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

STOP LIGHTS FOR RUNWAYS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — North American Aviation is making a special kind of stop-and-go sign in an experiment aimed at simplifying ground control of airplanes, particularly as they taxi across other runways.

Under contract with the Federal Aviation Agency, NAA is making 25 for evaluation at Washington National Airport. Installed at runway intersections and operated from the control tower, they tell the pilot to "Go" or "Hold." It has been found that voice controls during taxiing can be confusing to already busy pilots.

When I was growing up we were taught to share and help each other out. I feel that my oldest daughter is selfish and short-sighted. Will you comment on family responsibility, please? — DISAPPOINTED

Dear Disappointed: In many families, where there is real warmth and love, older brothers and sisters do help the younger ones through college. Unfortunately your family is not so blessed.

Your older daughter is doubly selfish. Not only did she receive of herself as a victim, but she refused to help her sister. I am sure you will be able to help her.

Kelley Predicts No Income Tax Before 1967

By JEAN WORTH

There's a great deal of speculation about when Michigan will enact a state income tax, but State Attorney General Frank J. Kelly isn't speculating.

He knows when the Legislature is going to do it, he says. It will be done in January, 1967, when the new governor of Michigan will be starting his first four-year term and the Senate will be under four year tenure.

The people of Michigan will then have four years to forget who is the author of the new state income tax, or to get to accept it. The four year period between enactment and the next election will give the state's politicians enough feeling of security to vote an income tax, which they now know is needed and inevitable, says Kelley.

He expressed his views at an Escanaba luncheon hosted by Pat Hayes at the House of Ludington enroute to a law enforcement conference he sponsored today at Northern Michigan University, Marquette.

Governor Prospect

Kelley's views on fiscal reform are as interesting for his prominence in speculation on the next Democratic nominee for governor as for his role as Michigan's top law officer.

Kelley, son of a Democratic state party leader, who was called to the attorney generalship from his private Alpena law practice (he is a native of Detroit) is one of three front runners in Democratic speculation on the governorship. The others are Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit and Zolton Ferency, state Democratic chairman.

Cavanagh has attracted national political attention as mayor of Detroit and has circulated widely to spread his image. He has won special note because of Detroit's leadership in the War on Poverty program. He may be more interested in the U. S. Senate than in the governor's job, but Kelley, who talked with him last week, found U. S. Senator Pat McNamara (D-Mich) in seeming good health and voicing no suggestion that he is stepping down to make a seat vacant in the Senate for G. Mennen Williams or anyone else. McNamara is chairman of the Senate's important Public Works Committee.

Hatchet Man

Ferency is the Democratic Party's hatchet man and no week passes without his using it on the head of Gov. George Romney, Republican. He is not holding public office and so isn't vulnerable to voter retaliation, and he is somewhat controversial even within his party. He and Gus Scholle, head of the State AFL-CIO, opposed the choice of Democratic legislators for state auditor general and didn't prevail with their own choice.

Kelley says he sees no need for incompatibility between a Republican governor and Democratic attorney general and cites that former Gov. Williams so judged the situation and accepted the role of Republican Attorney General Frank Millard as the chief law officer of the state in one of the Williams administrations.

Kelley indicated his belief that Governor Romney accepts the authority of the attorney general within the attorney general's own jurisdiction—the state's legal position—more now than formerly. A previous case in controversy was the Michigan National Guard officer ousted by Romney when Democratic Auditor General Billie Farnum accused them of improprieties in office.

No Shish Kabab

On the eve of election Kelley told Romney he had acted without consulting him and without authority. Romney replied that his action was within the knowledge of the attorney general's office and without its veto. Kelley said here he had acted at once when his staff informed him of the governor's lack of authority for the

PVT. LIONEL H. Beaumier, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel J. Beaumier, 1710 Marble Ave., Gladstone, completed eight weeks of military police training at the Army Training Center, Fort Gordon, Ga. March 19. Beaumier's training included instruction in civil and military law, traffic control, map reading, prisoner-of-war control and self-defense. He entered the Army in November 1964 and received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. Beaumier is a 1961 graduate of Escanaba High School.

oust, and with knowledge that the election eve timing gave it a political color, but he said "I had to live with myself." He believes that his action cost him 50,000 votes.

Kelley's prominence in speculation on the 1966 governor election doesn't excite him. Only 40, he is already in high office and wearing all the signs of a political "comer" and he thinks that if George Romney runs for governor in 1966 the Democrat who opposes him will be a sacrificial lamb.

Kelley has no desire to wind up as political shish kabab. The Republicans may not think much of Romney's political moxie, but the Democrats do. They cannot forget that he polled more than 300,000 Republican votes more than Democrat Neil Staebler when Democrat Lyndon Johnson was polling more than a million votes more than Republican Barry Goldwater for President in Michigan.

Icebreaker Due Here On Sunday

The Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinaw is now tentatively scheduled to break channels through Bay de Noc's two-foot-thick ice on Sunday, March 28.

This is two days later than the previous tentative date, said Lt. Cmdr. E. S. Hutchinson, U.S. Coast Guard group commander at Two Rivers, Wis.

"It will be the 28th or possibly later," Commander Hutchinson told the Escanaba Daily Press today. "The plan is for the Mackinaw to break open the shipping lanes into Upper Green Bay and Little Bay de Noc at the time requested by Inland Steel Co."

Busy In Straits

Two Inland Steel vessels will come to Escanaba from Indiana Harbor, escorted in by the Mackinaw. The two boats will leave for Escanaba on Sunday, according to the revised tentative schedule.

"The Mackinaw is busy today in the Straits of Mackinaw, opening channels for two tugs," the Coast Guard commander added. "The tugs are the John Roen 5th and the S. M. Dean of Sturgeon Bay and they are eastbound through the Straits."

At Escanaba the Coast Guard is preparing for the activating of lights here and at Minneapolis Shoal in the center of the bay 12 miles south of Escanaba.

Chief Daniel Ferguson, officer in charge of the Minneapolis Shoal light, said he and his crew now expect to be taken to the crib light by the cutter Mesquite about April 4.

Ore On Hand

Recent colder-than-normal weather has tightened the ice on the Upper Lakes.

On Green Bay the ice is reported to be 24 to 34 inches thick; Lake Michigan ice is reported as extremely heavy in the north; and at the Straits of Mackinac the ice ranges from 30-inch blue ice to broken drift ice and some open water west of the bridge.

Lee McMillan, Chicago & North Western ore dock agent, said today that no definite word has been received on when the Inland Steel vessels will be here. That will depend on the progress of the Coast Guard in opening channels and slips.

No ore trains are scheduled to Escanaba as yet—but there are 986 carloads of frozen iron ore in the yards from last year. Cold weather brought an abrupt end to ore shipping last fall and the ore was held over until spring. It is frozen solid in the cars.

War Gas Story Propaganda Is Bad For U.S.

had used such gases on Cyprus in 1955.

It was not until Wednesday, however, that Rusk held a news conference to come to grips with the main issue as it was finally defined here—the question whether the United States was in fact launching gas warfare against the Viet Cong.

Defended By Newspapers

"The shadow of gas warfare has been raised in connection with these incidents," Rusk said. "That is not involved. We are not embarking upon gas warfare in Viet Nam."

As to future use of tear gas, Rusk said, "no new directive has been issued" to countermand authority to use it.

But he added: "The anticipation is, of course, that these weapons will be used only in those situations involving riot control or situations analogous to riot control."

Even as Rusk spoke, the U.S. effort to explain its position was beginning to show some effect. In London, three leading newspapers defended the employment of tear gas. At the Capitol here, after getting an explanation from McNamara, several senators spoke out to defend what had happened.

Jewelry Store Is Burglarized

Burglars broke through a basement wall to enter the Bloomstrom & Peterson jewelry store, 911 Ludington St., to make off with rings and watches Wednesday night.

Escanaba police said that entry to the basement of the community's oldest jewelry establishment was made from an adjacent store basement. The thief or thieves smashed their way through the basement partition wall and forced open a door leading to the jewelry shop.

The value of the rings and watches reported missing is slightly in excess of $400, police said.

Two unsuccessful attempts were made to get into the safe. No cash is missing.

Wild Turkeys To Be Freed In U.P. Friday

Ten wild turkeys trapped by the Conservation Department near Allegan in the Lower Peninsula were to have been liberated west of Stephenson in Menominee County this evening but weather prevented a Conservation Department airplane from taking the birds to the Menominee Airport.

They were put in a station wagon and started for the U.P. this morning and were due for arrival in Escanaba about 8 tonight. They will be liberated tomorrow morning in Section 19, T35N, R28W at Shakey Lakes in Lake Township, Menominee County.

The area in which the big game birds are to be released is scrub oak country with pine stands that will provide roosts for the birds. The area has been selected by Victor Jansen, department turkey specialist, as well suited for introduction of turkeys to the Upper Peninsula. Turkeys have been so well established in the Allegan area that a special hunt is planned there next fall.

The Conservation Department trapped 10 turkeys, two adult males, two adult females and 6 year-old females over baited grounds near Allegan and they have been placed in gunnysacks for the trip north.

The 10 birds were a minimum for the experiment, said Ivan Thomson of Crystal Falls, game biologist for the Conservation Department in the Menominee-Dickinson-Iron county district. Turkeys are often released in groups of 5 with one male.

"There birds are young and healthy and we start off well," said Thomson. "We've found that the birds come through better with gunny bag handling than in crates. This is also true of geese.

"The experiment will be most vulnerable until the poult are large enough to escape predators. We had an April 1 deadline on the release and a minimum of 10 birds and we have met these requirements and now hope for a good nesting season which will establish the flock in Menominee County."

Salvation Army Swingers Draw At Coffee House

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A swinging new combo performs Monday nights at the "Coffee and Confusion" coffee house in the San Francisco Bohemia of North Beach.

The setting is a familiar swirl of cigarette smoke, haggard beards, coffee-stained jeans and faces seeking to look bored but quelling.

The swing combo mounts the bare, wooden stage and in smooth, mellow tones with an insistent, heavy beat begins to sing its own words to the folk song "Michael, Row the Boat Ashore."

"Jesus died on Calvary — Hallelujah!"

The performers are the "Salvation Singers," three men and a woman in their 20s — cadets preparing for careers as Salvation Army officers.

Since their debut last fall, they have been playing North Beach with increasing reception, their Gospel choruses often joined by self-professed beatniks who might ask later, "Who's God?"

"I haven't found a beatnik who believes in God — at least they say they don't," remarked Joe Noland of Santa Ana, Calif.

Some persons show surprise that they sing Gospel messages to coffee-house beatniks and present crowd-drawing concerts on North Beach corners.

"They don't expect Christians to be able to do anything," shrugged Doris Tobin of San Francisco, vocalist and ukulele player.

Salvation Army Capt. James Goode says the folk swingers are in harmony with the army's more traditional brass bands.

"And the brass band could never crack North Beach," he said. "The people are too sophisticated."

But even apparent sophistication can melt, said guitar player Ron Bawden of Great Falls, Mont.

"After one performance," he recalled, "the next folk singer on stage looked around and said, 'Man, how can I follow that? All I know are dirty songs.'"

"They don't realize they're getting a sermon, but they are," Noland added. "My goal is to get the beatniks to admit they don't know what they're looking for. They have no philosophy — they admit it."

Fourth member of the group is Cliff Lloyd of Seattle, Wash.

Quail Shooting Bill Up Again

By BOB VOGES
AP Outdoor Writer
A. P. Outdoor Writer

LANSING (AP)—The perennial proposal for an open season on quail—voted down in at least the last half dozen sessions—is before the legislature again this year.

A well organized group of hunters in southern Michigan want a chance to shoot quail. The State Conservation Department is behind the idea. Department game bird specialists recommend selective seasons.

Year after year, however, the legislature goes against the proposal.

Perky Whistle

Main opposition is from those who think of the quail as a song bird rather than a game bird.

The quail—also known as the bob white—is that cunning little fellow with the perky whistle that tradition has it is saying: "bob white, bob white."

People like to see the bird around and to hear his cheerful call. They fear that shooting might wipe the little fellow out.

The Southern Michigan Quail Association is campaigning for an open season, saying half a million birds are wasted a year.

Michigan is part of the northern limit of their range and the open season advocates say that the birds are killed off anyway by the heavy winters. Enough breeding stock survives each year to produce a new crop of quail but most of these again die from natural causes.

An experimental quail shoot was allowed last fall, from Nov. 2-6 at the Rose Lake Wildlife experiment Station near East Lansing.

Not Easy To Find

There was only a slight turnout of hunters. Sportsmen receiving permits spent 705 hours in the field but bagged only 16 birds, about 11 per cent of the quail population in the area.

The department said this indicated there wouldn't be any real danger of hurting the population by overshooting.

The hunters also found the birds weren't easy to find and hit.

A bill introduced in the House by Rep. W. Scott Esnign, D-Battle Creek, proposes a five-day quail season in southern Michigan for the fall, to come at the end of the pheasant season.

The season would be limited to the 15 southern counties of St. Joseph, Branch, Hillsdale, Lenawee, Monroe, Wayne, Washtenaw, Jackson, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Ingham, Livingston, Cass, Oakland and Macomb.

If the limited season is allowed it will be the first regular season for quail in Michigan in more than 50 years.

Auto Industry Outlook Bright

DETROIT (AP)—It's doubtful whether the auto industry ever has been as optimistic as it is today.

Official registration figures for last January, compiled by R.L. Polk & Co., auto industry statisticians, showed today more cars were registered than in any previous January in automotive history.

The January, 1965 total was 667,017 — nearly 55,000 units ahead of the old mark of 612,032 set in January, 1964.

Many industry observers predicted that on the basis of January registrations, the calendar year would wind up with about 8.7 million new cars sold.

Auto makers have adjusted production schedules upward in view of the healthy sales picture. In addition, model year production—which customarily ends by late July — has been extended until mid-August.

This means later production startup time for 1966 models and would indicate that some cars would not be introduced at dealer showrooms until early October. Last year, all the 1965 cars had made their debut by Sept. 25.

Most observers figure the 1965 model year will wind up with an output of between 8.7 and 8.8 million cars. If attained, it would mean a new production high. The current high is the 7,892,000 cars built in the '64 model run.

Making blankets and rugs is a relatively new art to Navajo Indians. They didn't learn weaving until the 18th Century.

Surface Water Losses Studied

LANSING (AP) — The House voted Tuesday to plug "leaks" through which Michigan loses an estimated 1,000 acres of surface water a year.

It passed the so-called "Inland Lakes and Streams Act" 78-16 after more than an hour of debate.

The bipartisan bill, which now goes to the Senate, would allow the State Conservation Department to regulate the dredging and filling of bottom lands the building of docks, piers and marinas.

With some exceptions, the bill would require a Conservation Department permit for:

—Dredging, placing spoil or other materials, filling, erecting, or extending any pier involving fill on bottom land.

—Erecting, maintaining or operating a marina on bottom land.

—Erecting or extending a commercial or industrial pier on bottom land.

A riparian (shore-line) owner would be allowed, without permit, to "place structures to facilitate his private, noncommercial, recreational use of the water by other riparians or the public."

Other exceptions would be the dumping of metallic mineral wastes in lakes already owned or controlled by mining companies aimed primarily at Upper Peninsula mining operations, where the practice has already started.

The bill weathered its second hour of debate and waves of amendments in two days.

Among the amendments killed were moves to exempt lakes of less than 50 acres, sponsored by Rep. Harry DeMasco, R-Battle Creek, and to delete the Upper Peninsula mining provision, by Rep. Arthur Law, D-Pontiac.

Law argued that virtually every Upper Peninsula lake was controlled by absentee owners.

Rep. Russell Hellman, D-Dollar Bay, opposed the move.

Citizen Group Discusses Plan For Development

HERMANSVILLE — Community development was discussed at the recent meeting of the Citizens Improvement Association held in the Community Club. Some 18 persons attended the meeting. Rev. Fr. Patrick Frankard, vice president, presided at the meeting, with Arthur E. Schultz, president, out of the city.

Aarne Ervast, Laurium, Michigan Economic Development Department, will be invited to speak to the group at its April meeting about Small Business Loans and the Township Revenue Bonding Act.

It was announced at the meeting that 10 miles of pipe will arrive via the Soo Line Railroad here, unloaded and stored here, for use by the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. for its pipe line.

Discussion was held on the proposed closing of the Railroad depot here.

The local organization which was reactivated in January meets the third Thursday of every month.

In Service

Dennis H. Clark, 21, son of Mrs. Loraine Stock, 219 S. 18th St., Escanaba, was promoted to specialist four March 11, while serving as a wireman in Battery C of the 28th Artillery's 2d Battalion in Germany. Specialist Clark entered the Army in January 1963 and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He was graduated from Holy Name High School in 1962.

Lee J. Patrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John LaPine, Rte. 2, Bark River, has been promoted from Airman 1. C. to Staff Sgt. by the United States Air Force. S. Sgt. Patrick recently completed 19 months of duty in Japan and is currently on 14-month assignment in India. A 1961 graduate of Holy Name High School, Patrick entered in Air Force in March, 1962.

Rapid River PTA Meets Monday

Trout Season To Open On April 3

Last week's below zero temperatures are hardly the weather to create interest in the early spring rainbow and brown trout fishing, but the early trout season for rainbows and browns opens April 3. The Great Lakes are open to this early fishing, along with the St. Mary's River, excepting the Soo Rapids.

The limits and size on the trout are the same as during the regular season; seven inches in length and not more than 10 fish or 10 pounds and one fish. The roily and murky waters of spring provide some good fishing, contrary to what many fishermen believe, say conservation officers.

Old Age At 61? That's Nonsense

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — What is middle age?
According to the dictionary, it is "the period of life between the ages of about 40 and about 60."
Like most dictionary definitions, this one is crass, unimaginative and downright unhelpful. For it clearly implies that, if middle age ends at "about 60," then old age must begin at about 61.
This is rampant nonsense. Call a woman of 61 an old lady, and she'll scratch your freckles out; call a man of 61 an old man, and you'd better duck fast.

Houghton Has Deepest Snow

HOUGHTON (AP) — Whoever Michigan's leading expert on snow may be, he could well live in Keweenaw County, where a winter bringing less than 200 inches of the stuff isn't considered a winter at all.
Residents, therefore, weren't easily convinced when a Minneapolis newspaper recently said its area, with 46 inches on the ground, could boast the deepest snow in the 48 adjacent states except for mountain areas.
And sure enough, they found roag engineer John Jackson, who testified that the little community of Delaware topped the Twin Cities with a snow depth of 54 to 58 inches.
Wednesday the county, which reports 279 inches of snow so far this season, got the news officially. The U.S. Weather Bureau said Houghton, with 36 inches, had the deepest snow.

Lake Shipping Spurt Indicated

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials in several Great Lakes ports are predicting a record shipping season as they await the April 15 scheduled opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.
Most expect an increase of at least two million tons over last year's record 39.3 million tons of Great Lakes shipments. John Manley, Chicago port director, forecast a total of nearly 45 million tons.
Joseph H. McCann, seaway corporation administrator, said "We should reach new highs in the shipment of iron ore, general cargo and grains other than wheat."
Wheat shipping may drop, he said, because of a lessening of Canadian shipments to the USSR.

Repellant Cuts Down Dog Bites For Mail Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The postman's best friend, a dog repellant, has increased by 40 per cent the likelihood that he will swiftly complete his appointed rounds in one piece.
That's the progress report Asst. Postmaster General Richard J. Murphy recently gave the House Appropriations Committee.
Dogs sank their teeth into postmen 7,000 times last year, costing them more than $1 million in sick leave and doctor bills, Murphy said. But over the last five months — since the carriers began carrying a repellant which keeps Fido at a distance — disabling dog bites were reduced 40 per cent, Murphy told the committee.

Decision Near On Turbine Car

By CHARLES C. CAIN
DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. made automotive history 10 years ago today when it announced it had developed and road tested a turbine powered auto.
Now, a decade later, the future of the turbine program still is a question mark. It seems apparent, however, that Chrysler is nearing a day of decision.
Chrysler currently has 50 of the sleek, turbine-powered cars in the hands of volunteer motorists. It is part of a massive national program to get reactions of average drivers to the new type engine.
When Chrysler launched the volunteer test program in October, 1963, it had applications on hand from over 25,000 motorists who wanted to test drive the cars. The original turbine test fleet consisted of only two cars, but it has been built up through the years.
By April, when the next cars are lent out to motorists in Little Rock, Ark.; Tacoma, Wash.; and Memphis, Tenn., the test cars will have logged over 700-thousand miles on U.S. highways.
The newest volunteer drivers will be permitted to use the cars as they please for a 90-day test period. Then they, as 142 motorists have done already, will be asked to answer a detailed questionnaire from Chrysler.
From the answers Chrysler hopes to amass a good deal of basic information which will help it decide whether the turbine car is now ready for general use.
The turbine engine has 80 per cent fewer moving parts than a regular piston engine and weighs only two-thirds as much. It looks and sounds much like an airplane turbine engine. Its basic element is a turbine wheel which has a ring of blades around the outside of a hub. When a mixture of air and combustion gases flows through the ring of blades, it causes the wheel to rotate like a windmill and this is how power is produced in a turbine.
Since it operates with excess air, the fuel—generally kerosene—is burned completely and there are practically no noxious fumes, such as carbon monoxide.
Chrysler, as well as Ford and General Motors, has an experimental turbine powered truck program underway. Both Ford and GM have indicated they believe the turbine auto is not feasible at the moment for many reasons, primarily economic. They figure the car would be too expensive to have much market appeal.

Studebaker Asks Reverse Split Of Common Stock
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Studebaker Corp. will ask shareholders to approve a reverse stock split at their annual meeting May 6 by reclassifying every five shares of common stock into one share.
The approximately 14.1 million current shares of outstanding common stock would be molded into approximately 2.82 million outstanding shares, the firm said Tuesday.
The effect would be to increase the per-share price of the stock.
One object of the proposal would be to give Studebaker "a common stock capitalization appropriate to its size," Byers A. Burlingame, company president, said in a news statement.
Burlingame noted the market price of Studebaker common stock has declined over the years "to the point that it is considered a speculative, low priced security in some quarters, without attraction to many investors."

State Potato Acreage Rises
LANSING (AP) — A substantial increase is expected this year in the acreage planted to soybeans and potatoes, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said Wednesday.
A small increase also is expected in the acreage planted to dry beans and corn. A decline is indicated in the planting of oats, barley and sugar beets.
Michigan's total field crop acreage for 1965 is estimated at 6.7 million acres for the 10 major field crops, about 77,000 acres less than last year.
In the cash crop acreage, a decline in wheat and sugar beets will be more than the offset increases for soybeans, dry beans and fall potatoes. The 136,000 acres planted to soybeans is expected to be the largest on record.
The acreage planted to dry beans is estimated at 628,000 acres, three per cent above last year. Farmers plan to plant 51,600 acres to potatoes this year 12 per cent more than last year.
A new potato processing plant will start operation this fall at Greenville and a large increase in fall potato acreage is expected in Montcalm County to supply the plant.
Farmers plan to plant 2,673,000 acres to feed grains, about two per cent less than last year. A small increase in corn will be more than offset by declines in oats and barley.

Live it up. Enjoy a rich, wonderfully different Swiss chocolate cake with a coconut cream cheese frosting. Use one of the new unsweetened products for chocolate baking and save extra kitchen work.

SWISS CHOCOLATE COCONUT CAKE
1¾ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
½ cup shortening (at room temperature)
1 cup evaporated milk
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 packets unsweetened product for chocolate baking
¼ teaspoon red food coloring (optional)
¼ cup evaporated milk

Sift flour with baking powder, soda, salt, and sugar. Stir shortening until softened. Add flour mixture and 1 cup milk, mix until all flour is dampened. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Add eggs, vanilla, melted cho-

SO LITTLE can mean so much. Just like an American child, this Peruvian lass (dressed in a jumper contributed in last Thanksgiving's clothing appeal) plays happily in a carton in which dried milk from U.S. Government surplus stock was shipped by the Bishops' Fund agency.

Catholic Relief Appeal Voiced

MARQUETTE—Upper Michigan Catholics this past Sunday listened to an appeal for funds to sustain the work of Catholic Relief Services, National Catholic Welfare Conference. Annually made on Laetare Sunday (Mid-Lent), the appeal is better known as the Bishops' Relief Fund.

Since its founding in 1943, the Bishops' Fund agency has dispatched overseas for distribution to the needy; foodstuffs, clothing and other relief supplies, weighing six million tons and valued at over one billion dollars.

Over this 22 year span, Upper Michigan Catholics have subscribed just short of a half million dollars in cash and another quarter million dollars in clothing, bedding and medicine, Msgr. Spelgatti, fund director, informs.

This response brings some relief into the lives of approximately 40 million destitute people in 73 countries of the world. Special envelopes for designated contributions were distributed in all Catholic churches of the Peninsula Sunday. They will be collected this Sunday.

Contributions may be mailed to the nearest Catholic church by anyone so minded, Msgr. Spelgatti said.

Mayor Hubbard Faces Charges On Civil Rights

DETROIT (AP)—Dearborn Mayor Orville Hubbard was ordered Tuesday to show cause why Wayne County Circuit Court should not enforce an order of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

The commission ordered what it termed racial derogatory material removed from a bulletin board in Dearborn City Hall.

Hubbard also is under a federal indictment stating he violated a federal civil rights statute by alleged failure to protect the property of a man whose house was stoned by a mob. A white mob stoned the home of the man, mistakenly believing he had sold or rented the home to Negroes.

Henry Ford II And Bride Back From Honeymoon

NEW YORK (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford II returned Wednesday from a 32-day honeymoon in Europe.

Arriving at Kennedy Airport from Rome, they posed for news photographers, but declined to be interviewed.

Reporters were able to ask a few questions while the newlyweds walked to a waiting limousine.

One reporter said, "Detroit is anxious to know when you will arrive there?"

The president of the Ford Motor Co. smiled and said: "Tell them it's none of their damned business."

Ford said he expected to stay in New York City for some time to attend "business meetings."

Photographers were busy snapping pictures of his attractive, blonde, Italian-born wife.

She wore a brown wool suit and tan shoes, and was hatless.

Gafner Renamed

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has reappointed John Gafner, state property manager, to the State Employees Retirement Fund for a term expiring July 31, 1967. The appointment does not require Senate confirmation.

The Puritans once outlawed Christmas.

Eastern U Staff Greets Sponberg

Calling for the aid of "all in working toward a common cause of fulfilling the expectations of Eastern Michigan University," Dr. Harold E. Sponberg, newly appointed EMU President, formally greeted members of the university faculty Friday.

Dr. Sponberg's remarks came during a faculty reception given in his honor. He told the gathering of some 550 EMU administrators and instructional personnel, that the foundation of education rests on the "twin pillars of quality and quantity."

Formally turning over university reins to Dr. Sponberg, President Eugene R. Elliott charted the rapid growth of the university in his 17 years as president, rising from an institution of 1,800 students to one today which has 1,100 staff members.

Dr. Sponberg, currently president of Washburn University at Topeka Kansas, will assume his new position on July 1.

Armstrong Plays Magic Trumpet In East Germany

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP)—Louis Armstrong brought his trumpet and his raspy voice deep into Communist East Germany Tuesday night and made music that sent thousands of fans into ecstasy.

Playing at the Leipzig Fair grounds, old Satchmo blew his horn and sang his favorites where a few years ago his kind of music was forbidden.

Armstrong is the first big jazz name from the West to tour East Germany. He is playing four concerts in Leipzig, seven in East Berlin and one each in Magdeburg and Erfurt. He also is visiting Romania and Yugoslavia.

The 4,300 seats for each of his Leipzig shows were sold out the day after tickets went on sale a week ago.

Epilepsy Groups In State Merge

Officials of the Lafayette Clinic and the Michigan Epilepsy Center expect an affiliation agreement between the two agencies, announced today, to lead to the establishment in Detroit of a Midwest center for research in the causes and treatment of epilepsy. Lafayette Clinic and the MEC have joined forces, in a rare public-private agency agreement, to intensify medical, psychological and sociological knowledge and understanding of a disorder which affects over 1,800,000 Americans, approximately 80,000 of them residing in Michigan.

In a joint statement, Lafayette Clinic Director J. S. Gottlieb, M. D. and MEC Executive Director Raymond D. Denneril, Ph. D., explained:

"This is an extension of an informal relationship in which both agencies have collaborated for the past four years. The affiliation agreement will allow us to pool our professional and physical resources in carefully planned programs of research, services and training, with no duplication of efforts." In this affiliation, each agency will maintain its present administrative and financial independence.

Lafayette Clinic, a psychiatric and neurological research, service and training center with in-patient facilities, receives primary support from state taxes through allocations from the Michigan Department of Mental Health and also from Federal research grants.

The MEC, an out-patient agency dedicated to research, to diagnostic and counseling services, and to public and professional education, is supported.

Ice Will Delay Shipping Start

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Great Lakes shipping season will be delayed a few days because of ice, but shippers still have a tentative opening date of from April 1-15, the Lake Carriers' Association ice committee reports.

The committee heard reports Tuesday from the Weather Bureau and the Coast Guard.

Thick, snow-covered ice is a problem in the northern Great Lakes, the committee said, and the weather outlook for the next five or six days is bad.

Plans of Inland Steel Co. to get two boats to Escanaba, Mich., in northern Lake Michigan by March 28 have been delayed by two days.

The committee said an effort would be made to get ships through the Straits of Mackinac about the same time by using an icebreaker.

Briefly Told

Lenten devotions will be held at 7:30 p.m. today at Trinity Episcopal Church, Gladstone.

State Police issued a traffic summons Wednesday to Daniel Turan, Holt, Mich., for speeding.

Arnold Rossow, Rte. 1, Gladstone reported to State Police that a sum of money had been taken from his home sometime since March 20. Troopers are investigating.

The Gladstone Ski Park will be open from 7 to 10 o'clock tonight and from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The Gladstone Ski Patrol will meet at 6 o'clock tonight at the Dehlin Clinic.

Stalking A Deadly Killer

Once a thing of beauty, this towering American elm fell victim to the Dutch elm disease and the scenic beauty of this home was ruined.

Chief culprit is the European elm-bark beetle.

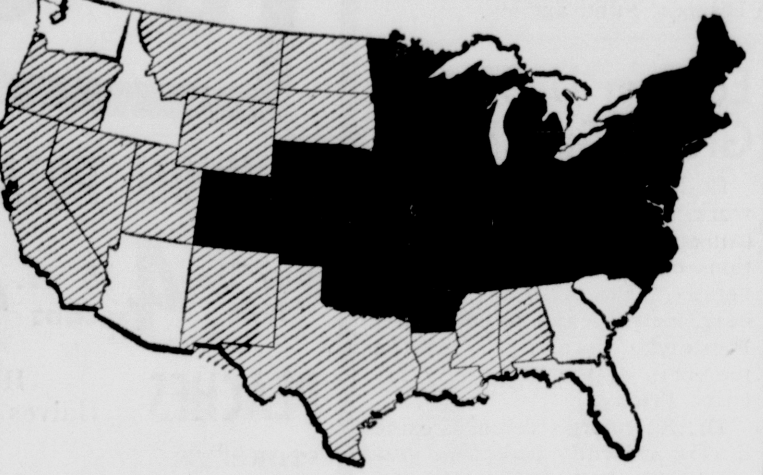

This is the beetle in its grub stage.

UNKNOWN in the Americas before 1930, Dutch elm disease has become our most destructive shade tree killer in a mere 35 years. It was first spotted in Ohio in 1930 and around the port of New York City in 1933. Previously it had been known only in Europe. For prevention, the U.S. Department of Agriculture advises spraying trees with DDT and other chemicals early in the spring when the elm-bark beetle, which spreads a deadly fungus, is feeding. The prompt and

This unusual photo shows the pretty, but fatal, designs fashioned by the elm-bark beetle. The beetle drills into the tree and deposits eggs. These hatch into grubs. In their overwinter stay they attain a larva stage. The area photographed is called a brood gallery. In the spring the matured beetle drills its way out through the bark.

Holding a firm grip on most of the United States, Dutch elm disease exists in all the darkly colored states and has been reported in the shaded states.

complete destruction of all dead and dying elms is also urged. This reduces egg-laying areas for the bark beetle. While stepped-up research is under way, at present no cure for Dutch elm disease is known. However, there are hopeful aspects in its control and county agents or U.S. Department of Agriculture officers can give advice.

Ski Club Dinner To Honor Winter Carnival Winners

Trophies and ribbons will be presented to winners in the Winter Carnival skiing and skating competition at the annual Ski Club banquet Saturday night at the James T. Jones school cafeteria.

The Jolly Joe's Home Extension Club will serve the banquet at 6:30 p.m. Lawrence Martin, club president, will conduct the business meeting and election of officers following the dinner. Wallace Cameron will lead the group in community singing.

Walter Palmquist and Mary Ann Cowell, ski school instructors, will present patches to ski school members. The Swedish Club cross country trophies and ribbons will also be presented.

Lyle Godfrey, commander of August Mattson Post American Legion, will present skating awards.

Tickets for the dinner are available at Dehlin Drug Store in Gladstone and Manning Shoe Store in Escanaba.

Facts About Income Taxes

QUESTION: I am itemizing my deductions on my federal income tax return. In arriving at my sales tax deduction, may I use the appropriate figure shown on the sales tax chart issued by the Internal Revenue Service and add to it the amount of tax I paid on the new furnishings I purchased in 1964?

ANSWER: Each year the Internal Revenue Service publishes a Michigan Average Sales Tax Chart for use by taxpayers itemizing deductions. For the past several years the chart has remained unchanged from one year to the next. The sales tax chart for 1964 returns, however, will be different from those of prior years. Figures from last year's chart, therefore, may not be used on this year's returns. If you choose to use the chart for determining your sales tax deduction, you may not add any additional amounts to it except the sales tax attributable to an automobile purchased during 1964.

If you do not wish to use the published chart, you should compute the amount you actually paid as sales tax during the year and use that figure as your deduction.

Under ordinary circumstances, the chart figures will be accepted without verification.

QUESTION: In 1963 my automobile was damaged in a collision with another auto. My insurance company paid for all repairs up to the amount of my deductible clause, $50. I was allowed a casualty loss deduction on my 1963 return for this $50. In 1964 I was again involved in an accident. Will the same provisions apply for this year's income tax return?

ANSWER: A "one-hundred dollar deductible" provision on personal casualty and theft losses was part of the 1964 tax law. The first $100 of each personal casualty and theft loss will not be deductible on Federal income tax return. A husband and wife filing a joint return will have to meet but one deductible limit for each separate casualty or theft in which they either jointly or separately suffer a loss. However, if they file separate returns, each will have to meet the $100 floor for each separate loss.

Business losses will continue to be fully deductible. In cases where there is damages to an auto used for both business and pleasure, the $100 deductible will apply only to the personal portion of the loss.

QUESTION: "Income averaging" is a new term that has been added to the vocabulary of the Internal Revenue Service. Just how does it affect and whom does it affect?

ANSWER: The new income averaging provision should be particularly helpful to persons with sharply fluctuating income such as salesmen, entertainers, writers, professional athletes and many business and professional people.

This provision of the 1964 tax law treats the qualified extra income of one year as if it had been earned over a five year period. Since tax rates are progressive, this means a lower tax rate for the higher year's earnings.

Income averaging can be used by a U. S. citizen or resident over 25 who has not been a full-time student during four of his taxable years beginning after he attained age 21. It can be used by taxpayers under 25 if they have furnished at least one-half of their own support in all four years prior to the averaging year.

To qualify for averaging, the income in the current year must be at least one-third greater than the average income earned during the previous four years. This excess must also exceed $3,000. The income in excess of 133 1/3 percent of the "average income" is then taxed in an amount equal to five times the tax payable on the first one-fifth of the excess. This procedure amounts to a spreading of the excess over a five year period.

Winter Takes Toll On Paint

No season is tougher on a house than winter. Cold and dampness take their toll. Excess humidity inside a house pushes through walls ruining exterior surfaces.

Outside, freezing makes painted surfaces brittle causing them to crack. Hairline cracks in mortar and concrete fill with moisture and alternate freezing and thawing exert enough pressure to make large openings.

With the first break in the weather, the homeowner should make an inspection tour. Early repair will prevent more serious trouble.

Start at the top and work down. Take a look at the roof to see if the wind has raised, broken or blown away any shingles. Nail them down and use some roof cement around the nail to prevent leaking.

Check Chimney Area
Flashing around chimneys and dormers may be rusted or broken loose. Heavy roofing cement will seal the trouble spots.

Look at gutters and downspouts. Snow and ice may have loosened gutters or caused them to sag. Debris may have accumulated at downspout openings.

Local Forensic Winners Named

In the local forensics contest at Manistique High School this week, ten winners were named to participate in the district match April 9 in Newberry.

The winners are Candy Becks and Barbara Rogers in lyric poetry, Eric Larson and Marilyn Pitts in dramatic monologue, Terry Cain and Marcia Pappas in humorous reading, Frank Kelly in radio speaking, Robert Davidson and Peter Mathson in declamation and Linda Grimes in original oration.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker, Crandon, Wis., are the parents of a son, Jamie, born March 23 in the hospital at Laona. The baby weighed 8 pounds 10 ounces. Mrs. Walker is the former Linda Osterhout.

ings. Seal rusted out spots with roofing cement, large spots with a patch of canvas, fiberglass or a piece of the same type of material of which the gutter is made. Seal the area with roofing cement.

Your chimney, stone steps and the entire wall of a brick house need careful inspection. Look for loose mortar. Scrape it out and replace with ready-mix mortar.

Wooden houses should be inspected for loose, cracked or damaged boards. Nail down loose boards, seal the nail heads with aluminum paint and then put on a dab of paint that matches the house. The aluminum paint will keep the nail head from rusting and bleeding through the finish paint.

Badly damaged boards should be replaced. Cracks in boards should be filled with calking.

Clean out bad calking compound and replace with fresh. Don't work on moist surfaces or on a drizzly day. You will only seal the moisture in.

Replace Loose Putty
Loose putty should be cleaned out and replaced. It will end some annoying rattles.

While it will be too early to put up screens, it's a good indoor, rainy-day job to get them patched and painted.

Look at your yard. After a rain or a heavy thaw large puddles will tell you where the low spots are. Fill them with soil to avoid future drainage problems.

Large branches on trees may have cracked or become weakened. Cut them off or get a professional tree surgeon to do the job.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Because the American elementary school reaches the greatest number of our citizens for the longest time, it is responsible for laying the groundwork for healthy intellectual and personality growth.

Elementary school gives the child his first glimpse into the worlds of the social studies, art, science and literature — and it gives him an awareness of the vastness of information about these worlds. Here the child learns to read and use libraries. He learns to make judgments and identify fact and truth from fallacy and half-truth. He learns the power of his mind and becomes familiar with his talents and his shortcomings.

Elementary school helps the child develop his personality and teaches him to work and cooperate with others. It strives to give him independence and self-confidence.

The teacher is the child's idol during the elementary school years. Aware of this responsibility, the elementary school teacher works hard to set a good example for her students. She knows that everything she says and does makes a lasting imprint on the minds and memories of her pupils.

The young child is a delight. He is bold, and honest, and fun. The elementary school works to preserve these good qualities while it equips him with the tools for a satisfactory future life.

HONORED—Special individual honors in football were accorded to Mike Kidd, Tom Bartol, Frank Trotter and Eugene Fregetto at the Holy Name Booster Club All Sports banquet this week . . . Named tri-captains of next fall's Crusader grid team were John Lark, Bill Fodor and Peter Petr . . . Special honors in basketball went to Kidd, Trotter and Bill O'Connell.

SHOOT — The Upper Peninsula championship skeet tournament has been awarded by the U.P. Shooting Association to the Hamilton Lakes Skeet and Gun Club . . . The tournament will be held at the Hamilton Lakes range, two miles south of Loretto, Aug. 15 . . . Any shooters interested in participating in the tournament may contact Vern Teafoe, club president, at Box 61, Loretto.

TOURNEY—Manager Frank Rodman is happy with the progress of the 27th annual Upper Peninsula-Northeastern Wisconsin Amateur basketball tournament in progress at Hermansville . . . The Hermansville sports promoter does a terrific job in staging the annual basketball extravaganza, largest of its kind in the midwest . . . Among the players who will be in action in Class A games Saturday are Fred Boddy and Mike Mileski with Marquette Ging's and Jack Gotta, Ironwood's contribution to the Canadian Football League, with Ironwood Lahti's.

TELEVISION—Sportswriter Len Wagner (Green Bay Press Gazette) pens the following interesting observation on the recent Wisconsin High School basketball tournament at the University of Wisconsin in Madison: "Television has really taken over that tournament and the WIAA ought to start considering whether or not the tail isn't wagging the dog . . . So many times the players were all set to go, the referee began handing the ball over and then pulled it back to wait for the TV floor director's signal that the commercial was over . . . We felt sorry for Monroe's Jim Dearth, who was standing on the free throw line waiting to try for the clinching points and then had to wait . . . and wait . . . and wait for the commercial . . . This sort of thing is about like a newspaper mixing in a classified ad about every three paragraphs in the story of the game."

CAPTAINS—Tim Bullock and Duane Soine, the lone seniors on the Northern Michigan University basketball squad, have been named honorary co-captains of the Wildcats . . . Both played four years of varsity basketball under Coach Stan Albeck . . . Named most valuable player by his mates was Gene Summers, 6 foot 4 inch junior center from Flint who set a new single season scoring record of 668 points.

Home Teams Fail To Win

By The Associated Press

Big Wilt Chamberlain has the reputation of being a poor foul shooter in the National Basketball Association.

The Big Dipper, as Wilt likes to be called, made only 408 of 880 free throws during the regular NBA season that ended last Sunday.

He made only six of 18 in the opening game of the Eastern Division semifinal playoffs at Cincinnati Wednesday night, but two of the six came in succession in an overtime period and gave the Philadelphia 76ers a 119-117 victory over the Royals.

The home-court advantage didn't stand up in the opening of the Western Division semifinals, either, as the Baltimore Bullets edged the St. Louis Hawks 108-

Russell Named Most Valuable

BOSTON (AP) — "That's fine," he said, "but I'll take the championship first."

The comment from Boston Celtics center Bill Russell Wednesday, when told he was picked as the Most Valuable Player of the National Basketball Association, was typical of the way he has faced the entire season.

The result of the balloting by a U.S. Basketball Writers Association committee surprised no one. It was the fourth time Russell was voted Most Valuable Player in the past five years. The award also duplicated the honor voted him by the NBA players two weeks ago.

The bearded pivotman, considered the best defensive player ever in basketball, received a total of 283 points in the balloting, compared to 156 for runner-up Jerry West of Los Angeles. West was the only other player to draw a first-place vote.

Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati finished third, just one point behind West, and Sam Jones of the Celtics was fourth with 69 points.

Scoring Record Seems Safe For Another Season

MARQUETTE—Dominic Jacobetti's career scoring record of 2,140 points is likely to stand at least through the 1965-66 basketball campaign.

The Negaunee St. Paul ace, just named to the Michigan Associated Press all-star Class D team, replaced Trout Creek's Jim Manning as the Upper Peninsula's all-time point maker by hitting 741 in his senior year. That put him three up on the mark of 2,137 set by Manning, a 1961 graduate who has been playing organized baseball ever since he left high school.

Final unofficial figures on the 1964-65 U. P. season show only three juniors among the 24 who ran up 20-point-plus averages for combined regular season-tournament action during 1964-65. And the top scorer among that underclassman trio, another Trout Creek cager, Bob Gale, has only 1,233 points.

That, it is believed, isn't enough to enable him to surpass Jacobetti's or Manning's totals in his senior year.

Five players—a single-season record—scored more than 600 points during the 1964-65 campaign. Hermansville's Ron Povolo led the race with 742 points in 23 games, one more than Jacobetti collected in 24 outings. In the six-century group were Gale, 664 in 23 games; Felch's Gary Blomquist, 646 in 21, and Garden's Barry Rochefort, 612 in 22.

Povolo won the combined season - tournament scoring crown with an average of 32.3, followed by Jacobetti, 30.9; Blomquist, 30.8, and Rochefort, 27.8. Amasa's Gerald Hautala, who played in only 10 games against varsity competition, hit 332 points.

Oddly enough, no other U. P. cager collected more than 500 points. Nearest to the mark, and pacing the big-school players with an average of 27.7, was Marquette's Paul Albright, who had 498 for 18 court performances.

The list of 24 Upper Peninsula cagers who averaged 20 or more points per game this season:

- Ron Povolo, Hermansville, 742
- Dom Jacobetti, Negaunee St. Paul, 741
- Bob Gale, Trout Creek, 664
- Gary Blomquist, Felch, 646

Batting Champ Has Bone Chip

By The Associated Press

Memo to American League opposition of the Minnesota Twins:

If you thought Tony Oliva murdered you last year, wait until you see what he can do with 10 good fingers.

That apparently won't be until 1966, but the intervening season will give the other nine teams time to worry about the Cuban who won the league batting championship and Rookie of the Year honors.

The Twins are worrying right now. They discovered Wednesday that Oliva played all but the first month of last baseball season with a bone chip in the middle finger of his right hand.

X rays, the first taken since the right fielder injured the finger in Boston last May 15, revealed the bone chip. To alleviate the swelling and the pain that have plagued him the past 10 months, the Twins have given Oliva various shots.

The injury, however, hasn't slowed him down this spring any more than it affected him last season. The 23-year-old left-handed hitter drilled a double and three singles in five times at bat Wednesday in the Twins' 6-4 loss to Philadelphia, raising his spring average to .384.

Surgery, team officials said, will have to be postponed until the end of the season because it would keep him out of the lineup for two months.

U.P. Cagers Are Honored On All-State

Six Upper Peninsula players were named to the honorable mention list in the Associated Press all state Class B basketball selections which were announced today.

Honored were Frank Trotter of Holy Name, Ricky Ebbesen of Gladstone, Rick Crews of Rudyard, Paul Santoni of Kingsford, Doug Pertunen of Ishpeming and Dane Dominici of Iron River.

Track Records Are Broken

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — Two fieldhouse records were broken by Eastern Michigan's track team Wednesday as it defeated Central Michigan 58-46 in a dual meet.

Terrence Norman ran the mile in 4:13.8, bettering the old record of 4:15.1. The mile relay team of Rich Gordon, Larry Andrews, Joe Grasley and Jim Mason finished in 3:22.3, knocking 4.3 seconds off the old mark.

Speaker Panel Set For Clinic

A panel of top football personalities from college and high school ranks will head the program for the second annual Escanaba Football Coaches Clinic which will be held at The Terrace April 2-3.

Heading the visiting speakers will be Vince Carillot of Michigan State University who will discuss the defensive secondary phase of football.

The other speakers will be: Gildo Canale of Northern Michigan University whose subjects will be isometrics and taping.

Pat Naughton of Northern Michigan University, speaking on interior line play.

Jerry Roesch, Superior Central High School, who will discuss high school passing.

Carillot will speak Saturday afternoon, April 3, at the 1:30 session.

Now in his fifth year with the Spartan grid coaching staff, Carillot is a former Michigan State player. He joined the MSU staff in 1959 as assistant backfield coach after a six year tenure at East Lansing High School where his teams ranked among the best in the state.

Carillot is a native of New York City and a Navy veteran who saw service in War II. He HERMANVILLE — Four more teams vaulted into the quarterfinal round of the Class B division of the 27th annual Upper Peninsula-Northeastern Wisconsin Amateur basketball tournament with victories Wednesday night.

The big basketball circus takes a night off and will resume with four quarterfinal games in Class B Friday. Class A action begins Saturday night and the tourney will crash to a close Sunday.

Pickford, Powers Gold Star Restaurant, Eben Merchants and Hermansville Wildwood survived the Thursday night action. The Stephenson Strollers, a team that has been entered in all 27 tournaments here, was sidelined once again. Manager Mike Strohl's entry has never won a championship in the U.P. tournament.

Pickford opened with an impressive 77-73 decision over Gwinn Mussatto's IGA, winning in a hectic closing quarter in which the lead changed hands with each basket. Pickford had a 57-56 edge entering the final period.

Four Pickford cagers hit in double figures. John Jaske tossed in 18, Dick Weber 17, Dick Beacom 16, John Logan 14 and John Bennin 12. Top scorers for the Gwinn quint were John Fallon with 19, Martin Ghiardi 15 and Jim Petterson 14.

Lanky Dennis Vanlerberghe exploded for 33 points, high single game output of the tournament this season, to lead the Gold Star team of Powers to an 82-52 decision over Ishpeming Mike's Texaco. The Powers team built up a 59-41 edge through three periods and then rammed in 23 points in the finale to win going away.

Vanlerberghe got solid scoring support from Mike Nelson with 17 points, Ben O'Neil 10 and Bob Macco 7. Corkin led the veteran Ishpeming team with 17 points, Ben O'Neil 10 his two game point total to 52, second highest in the tournament.

Eben rallied from a 39-33 halftime deficit to nail a good Champion team, 70-66, behind Poly Viaw's 28 point production. Viaw, ex-Rapid River prep star, boosted his tourney scoring total to 54 points. Ron Kaupila chipped in 12 for the winners. Pete Koski tallied 17 and Wayne Wiltanen 12 for the losers.

The Wildwood Five nursed a slender lead through the first three frames to carry a 39-36 cushion into the fourth period. A balanced attack paid off in the stretch with 24 points as the Hermansville quint squashed the Stephenson Strollers, 63-50.

Dick Gordon led four Hermansville players in double figures with 21 points followed by Bob Fabry 13, Joe Arnold 11, Roger LaCourcier 10.

Jan Roland and Ken Rasner popped in 10 apiece to lead Stephenson.

Red Wings Get Toronto Assist

By The Associated Press

The Detroit Red Wings, given a big assist by the Toronto Maple Leafs, can just about wrap up the National Hockey League championship by beating the New York Rangers tonight.

A victory for the Red Wings on their home ice over the Rangers would give them 85 points and assure them of at least a tie in the season that ends Sunday.

Second place Montreal was beaten Wednesday night by the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2 and kept from tying the Red Wings for first place.

The Red Wings and Canadiens each will have two games to play after tonight's New York at Detroit contest. Both Detroit games are against the tough four-place Maple Leafs while Montreal meets Boston and New York, the last two clubs in the league against which they already have chalked up 19 victories this season.

Big Seven Picks All-Conference In Basketball

Two players each from Hermansville, Channing and Carney head the Big Seven all-conference basketball squad selected by coaches on an all-opponent basis at a meeting in Norway this week.

Named to the 10-player squad were Ron Povolo and Harry Gordon of Hermansville, Clayton Olson and Tom LaPointe of Channing, Cliff Perras and Bob Macco of Carney, Gary Blomquist of Felch, Burry Venstra of Pembine, Mike Nelson of Powers-Spalding and Greg Leonardi of Alpha. Gordon is the lone junior on the squad, all the others being seniors.

Players and coaches will be honored at the annual conference basketball banquet to be held April 24 at either Hermansville or Channing.

The Big Seven baseball schedule will be drawn up by Carl Lemm of Felch and arrangements for the conference track meet will be made by Miles Ferguson of Channing.

Same Old Tale; Tigers Bow 3-2

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) —Denny McLain, who said only last week he felt he had a good chance to become a starting pitcher, was reeling today from a Bob Swift tongue lashing.

"He'll have to learn to do what he is told or he won't be around here very long," said Swift, who is filling in for ailing Detroit Tigers manager Charlie Dressen.

The world champion St. Louis Cardinals raked McLain for three runs and eight hits in four innings as the Tigers dropped a 3-2 exhibition game at St. Petersburg Wednesday. It was the fifth straight loss for Detroit and its sixth by a one-run margin.

"I wanted to win the game and McLain wasn't pitching well," said Swift. "I told McLain before the game he can't come in with a high fast ball when the count is two and nothing."

"You can get away with that kind of stuff in the minors but not up here, not against these kind of hitters."

Swift later asked McLain: "Did you learn anything out there today?"

"Yes, sir," said McLain. "Good," replied Swift. "don't ever forget it."

Swift said he was happier with the work of lefthander Ron Nishwitz and rookie righthander Billy Graham. He said both would get another assignment before final decisions on minor league assignments are made.

George Smith drove in both Detroit runs with a two-run pinch-hit single in the fifth inning.

Al Kaline was hitless in three trips to the plate. As a leadoff batter, a move Swift says is designed to give him more hitting time, Kaline is 4 for 19 with no RBIs. Kaline will be moved to the No. 4 cleanup slot when the season begins.

Other strategy Swift is thinking over would put righthander Don Wert leading off against lefthanded pitchers and southpaw swinging Dick McAuliffe No. 1 against righthanders.

The Tigers were to meet the Baltimore Orioles today at Lakeland.

Clemente Likely To Miss Opener

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Right-fielder Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates said Wednesday night he probably will miss the opening game of the baseball season next month.

Clemente, who has been ill with a form of malaria or paratuberculosis, said he will leave for the Pirates' training camp at Fort Myers, Fla., this Saturday but will not be able to begin working out immediately.

Ebbesen Named Most Valuable

GLADSTONE—Ricky Ebbesen, 6 foot 2 inch senior center, was named most valuable player on the Gladstone High School basketball squad by his teammates.

Ebbesen who scored 351 points this season, Gary Englund and Bruce Ellison were elected tri-captains of the team for next season.

Nailing Is Not Always Simple Get Ready Now For Spring Jobs

You would think that driving a nail or screw would be the simplest task around the house. But joints come apart, wood splits and it is usually the fault of the man doing the job. Nailing is easiest, fastest and cheapest. Screws are more expensive and more work to install but they have greater holding power and can be removed without splitting the wood. Use screws when there is a strong pull on the joint (for door hinges) or where extra strength is needed (furniture joints). Ordinary wire nails cost little and will take care of most jobs. The common nail has a flat head, will handle most rough jobs. Finishing nails have virtually no head and can be set below the surface so they don't show. Box nails have a head, are thinner than common nails. There are many special nails designed for particular jobs, but common and finishing nails will fill most needs. Toe nailing is a technique that makes stronger joints. The nail is driven at an angle rather than straight down. Often, toe nailing is the only way you can drive a nail in a difficult situation. If the point of the nail comes through the second piece of wood, bend it over. Setting a nail (hiding the head beneath the surface) is done with a tool called a nail set. Drive the nail almost to the surface, finish the job with the hammer and nail set rather than the hammer alone. You will avoid marring the wood with the hammer head. Drilling Required. Screws require drilling a hole in advance. Skipping this job may cause the wood to split or you may twist off the head of the screw. The hole in the top piece of wood should be the same size as the shank, in the lower piece it should be smaller. Start the screw straight. Use the right size screw driver. Use a countersinking tool first if you are using flat head screws. If you want to hide the screw entirely — as in furniture — recess the hole so that the screw may be driven below the surface. Glue in a wood plug, slightly higher, and then sand flush. You can cut plugs from dowel rods. Never drive a screw with a hammer. Learn Nail Sizes. Nail sizes are indicated by the term "penny" and it is written with the letter "d." Hence, a 2d nail is one-inch long, 3d, 1 1/4; 4d, 1 1/2; 6d, 2 inches. A 20d nail is 4 inches long and beyond that they are spikes. Nails shorter than an inch are brads or tacks. Length of screws is indicated in inches. The size of nail or screw needed is determined easily by the thickness of the material. Don't grab any nail or screw to do a job that requires a certain size. Pick a nail that is three times as long as the thickness of wood to be nailed. Choose a screw long enough so that the unthreaded shank just reaches through the top board. A few nails, properly spaced, will hold better than many nails driven closely together. Antarctica is the world's fifth largest continent.

Now is the time to pave the way for spring projects. While weather is cool, it may be a simple matter to prod the do-it-yourselfer gently into purchasing paint, wallpaper, lumber and other materials. Once he has an investment in materials, you may look forward to getting some of the necessary work completed. If you let it go until good weather is upon us, the home handyman may find that fishing rods, boat sails or skin diving gear is more in need of repairs than the house. A do-it-yourselfer often has to be conditioned to a new season of work. To get him in the mood, you may need to campaign early and often, but in a subtle way. He won't like to be heckled or hurried. For one thing, a seasoned do-it-yourselfer feels usually that his work is not fully appreciated. He doesn't like criticism and constructive advice can't be offered unless he asks for it. But the subtle approach can accomplish reams of good work. Most home handyman goof off for a spell. If this is the year he has chosen for his lay-off, it may take some doing to rekindle his enthusiasm. Instead of saying "this house must be painted this spring," mention that "it is a shame that the paint didn't last as long as it should, and now look how it is peeling." This may strike home even better if you can mention that someone had called it to your attention. Mentioning the cost of having someone else do the work can produce instantaneous results from a lagging worker. "Heavens, I hope we don't need a new roof. It just cost the Joneses $300 to have one put on," may indeed do the trick. Once he is committed to the task, such as "well, the materials cost only a fraction of that. The rest is labor," you have him hooked. He likes to feel there is a big price on his hands. And there is. To get him interested in repairing a leak-damaged ceiling, you might muse that "perhaps our insurance covers the leak damage, and maybe the leak was from the stopped-up drain spout." This technique may result in getting two small projects under way — ceiling repair and unstopping the drain. Many do-it-yourselfers postpone jobs because supply deposits close early on Saturdays, his day off. Pinning him down to what he needs so that you can pick it up during the week may be the answer to action over the weekend. If he begins to talk about a great many jobs that need to be done around the house, you may buoy his spirits with a solicitous remark, such as "you can't do all this work yourself, you'll never have a minute to relax all spring." A properly reasoned do-it-yourselfer can be a conscientious worker. But one who has lost his enthusiasm because the family just takes his work performance for granted may need reassurance, that he is really appreciated. Houses aren't foolproof. Roof shingles take a beating, house siding may need repairs, cinder blocks can crack, porch screening may tear, the house walk needs repairs or driveway gravel has washed away, shutters need painting, fences may need to be renewed. Just getting a home underway for a new season takes plenty of manpower. Removing storm windows, putting up screens, conditioning and repairing outdoor furniture and equipment requires more time and effort than most do-it-yourselfers can muster up when spring is at hand.

Late Snow Is Deer Peril

Snow depths in northern Marquette County are creating increased concern about winter-kill of deer, says Joseph Vogt, Escanaba District game biologist of the Conservation Department.

The readings on the 6 gauges of the district are higher than they were at this time in 1962, when there was such a heavy blizzard of deer in the district, said Vogt, but fortunately the snow is hard-packed and not in the condition that contributed to the 1962 deaths. The deer can reach browse from the compacted snow in many areas today.

Readings of snow gauges on Wednesday: Champion 3 feet, Big Bay 2.9, Chatham 3.1, Marquette 2.2, Gwinn 2.1 and Ensign 1.4.

The deer have now been in the yards more than 100 days, said Vogt. There are increasing reports of dead deer, with 13 reports still to be checked in Marquette County.

An emaciated large doe 14 to 16 years of age found dead in the Echo Lake yard south of Big Bay was carrying two mummified fawn embryos, famine having caused or contributed to the deaths.

Girl, 7, Awaiting Bus, Hit By Car, Critically Injured

A seven-year-old Wells Township girl fought for life in St. Francis Hospital this morning after being critically injured when struck by a car near her home at 7:30 a. m. today.

In another hospital room, her mother, knowing of her little girl's accident, awaited birth of the family's sixth child.

Injured was Judith Ann Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, Rte. 1, Escanaba.

Hospital officials termed her condition "critical," suffering from multiple injuries.

State Police of the Gladstone Post said the little girl, a first grader at Soo Hill School, was struck by a car driven by Gerald Gelina, 21, Rte. 1, Wilson. She was apparently waiting for a school bus when the accident happened.

Police said the accident happened on Co. Rd. 414, about one tenth of a mile east of Co. Rd. 525 in Wells Township.

Gelina, who was en route to work at the Chicago & North Western ore dock, told police he was traveling east behind a school bus on Co. Rd. 414. He said as the bus passed a group of children the Johnson girl darted into the road.

Gelina said he applied the brakes, but was unable to avoid striking her. State Police said two wheels of Gelina's car were riding on frozen snow and did not take hold immediately. Police are continuing investigation of the accident.

Judith Ann is one of five children in the Johnson family. She has three sisters, JoAnne, 14, Jean 11 and Janet, 3, and a brother, Ronnie, 9.

Briefly Told

Alec Creighton, Manistique automobile dealer, was flown to Rochester, Minn., for medical attention today by Thorin Aviation of Escanaba.

A benefit basketball game between eighth graders and the faculty of the Escanaba Area Junior high school will be played at 3:30 p. m. Friday in the school gym. Proceeds will go to the Easter Seal drive.

Scholle Stricken

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — August (Gus) Scholle, 60, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, was rushed to a hospital here today with what was described as a ruptured appendix. Scholle was vacationing here with his wife. He was taken to Memorial Hospital in Hollywood.

Big Electronic Gun Is Tested

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Testers fired Stanford's big electron gun the other day when only one-fiftieth of its barrel was in place. The shot made scientific history.

The first 666-foot section generated an electron beam of 1.3 billion electron volts — BEV — the highest energy of any linear accelerator in America. It's already the longest.

When completed next summer, the new tool for exploring the nature of matter will be almost two miles long and will fire a 20-BEV beam of electrons to rip holes in the curtain of unimaginably minute subnuclear matter.

Cost 114 Million

Considered as a "microscope," the accelerator will enable the physicist to study subparticles only one-thousandth of one-billionth of an inch long that exist for less than one-billionth of a second.

Its $114-million price tag makes it the most expensive piece of research apparatus ever financed by the federal government.

The Stanford Linear Accelerator Center—SLAC—will cost about $20 million a year to operate. Its electric bill alone will run about $2 million, for it will consume as much power as nearby Palo Alto, population 56,000. The complex will employ 1,000 persons.

The dime-sized beam will have no other use than research.

Stanford university's contribution to the project has been know-how and 480 acres of university land. The university team of high-energy linear accelerator builders — science's most experienced — conceived and designed the machine, and is supervising its construction.

Taxpayer Fools Bill

The accelerator will be put into continuous operation early in 1967, after a six-month shakedown, as a national facility open to physicists from all over.

A 10-member program advisory committee — only two members are from Stanford — will help Director Wolfgang K.H. Panofsky screen and schedule proposed experiments. The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission — meaning the taxpayer — is footing the bill for both construction — authorized by Congress in 1961 — and operation.

The barrel of the gun is a baffled four-inch copper pipe. Adjustable mountings will keep its 10,000-foot length in near-perfect alignment.

The accelerator is housed in a 10x11-foot, steel-reinforced concrete tunnel buried 25 feet deep to guard against radiation.

Obituary

Pickets Leave; Work Resumed On Soo Lock Job

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Construction on the $21.4 million Poe Lock project, halted by a labor dispute since Saturday, resumed today when Laborers' Local 1329 pickets did not return.

The laborer's local, which staged the walkout following dismissal of some of its members by McNamara Construction Co. faces a Chippewa County Circuit Court hearing March 31, to show cause why a restraining order should not be issued.

A suit was filed by attorneys for the contractor, McNamara Construction Co., Ltd., of Manitoba. It names the International Construction and General Laborers Union, Local 1329, and Cornelius Alessandri, Sr., of Iron Mountain, the local business manager, as defendants.

Spokesmen for the construction firm said that the company had proposed to submit the dispute to arbitration after the picket line was removed.

Law Privileges Are Granted To 18-Year-Olds

LANSING (AP) — The Senate grudgingly gave 18-year olds certain privileges of adulthood Wednesday but withheld others in the craziest-quilt voting pattern of the session.

Senators knocked out provisions which would have allowed 18-year-olds to acquire real estate and enter into contracts for such goods as automobiles.

Debate ranged from bitter to humorous — the latter when former auto dealers Sen. Roger Johnson, D-Marshall, and Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood, castigated fellow senators for implying that car salesmen would prey on young buyers if the original bill were passed.

Sen. Haskel Nichols, R-Jackson, and other backers of the original bill asserted that if 18-year-olds can marry and serve in the armed forces, they should be able to buy property and goods without a parent co-signing.

Opponents led by Sen. Roger Craig, D-Deerborn, said the young people would become victims of unscrupulous merchants.

Sen. George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe, introduced the amendment knocking the contract and property purchase privileges out of the bill, then withdrew it when debate arose.

But Sen. John McAuley, D-Wyandotte, reintroduced the same amendment. On a show of hands it fell three votes short of passage. But a roll call was demanded and that time the amendment was approved 20-14. Republicans split 7-7 on the amendment and Democrats were for it 13-7.

After the amendment fight, the bill passed 33-2 and went to the House.

The amended bill still left 18-year-olds with the privileges of executing wills, powers of attorney and assignment of guardianship of the estate of their children.

Two other bills of interest were moved into position for final passage.

One would expand the Workmen's Compensation Appeal Board from five to seven members and split the board into rotating three-member divisions for hearing cases.

The other would allow the Liquor Control Commission to waive the one-year residence requirement when issuing licenses.

An entire Egyptian city once was built in honor of a dog, according to Britannica Junior Encyclopaedia.

If Vote's Yes Escanaba Will Get Gas Office

Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. of Detroit plans a central office in Escanaba, James C. Preston, general manager of the natural gas utility's Northern District announced today on a visit to Escanaba with William Hutchins, director of press relations.

Also in the party of Michigan Consolidated officials here today are Fred McIntire, vice president, sales, and Atty. Carl Seavitt, assistant secretary.

Preston said that if and when the City of Escanaba votes to sell its gas utility to Michigan Consolidated for incorporation in its Upper Peninsula natural gas system, Mich Con will take over the present municipal gas utility. Its employees will be offered employment by Mich Con.

The present propane gas plant of the city on N. 10th St. would become a service center for the city district, said Preston after the switchover from propane gas to natural gas next fall with the building of the Mich Con pipeline from Menominee to Rapid River and to Iron River.

"We would also open a central office in Escanaba for the payment of bills, for the display of gas appliances, and to house the manager's office and sales supervisor and other staff," said Preston.

He said that the Escanaba District of the utility would employ 18 persons, including the three present employees of the city-owned gas utility.

The city's four steam plant employees would also be offered Mich Con employment when it was phased out two years after acquisition.

All Michigan Consolidated's plans for Escanaba are contingent upon sale of the municipal gas utility to it. When Mich Con gets approval from the Federal Power Commission to extend its line to Escanaba-Gladstone and Rapid River, Escanaba voters will be asked if they wish to sell the city's gas plant to Mich Con for $725,000. A 60% affirmative vote is necessary to sell the city gas plant.

Red China May Help Viet Cong

TOKYO (AP) — Red China declared today it is ready to send men to fight "the U. S. aggressors" in South Viet Nam if the Communist Viet Cong asks for them.

Peking coupled the offer with the announcement that it will send "all necessary material aid, including arms and all other war materials, to the heroic South Vietnamese people who are battling fearlessly."

"At the same time," it said, "we are ready to send our men, whenever the South Vietnamese people want them, to fight together with the South Vietnamese people to annihilate the U.S. aggressors."

In Hong Kong, a Western diplomatic expert on Chinese Communist affairs said Peking's latest declaration appears to go only one step beyond what it has been saying all along.

The expert, who has just returned from a visit to Communist China, pointed out that the declaration said, "We are ready to send our men."

"Peking has been very crafty in its phrasing of its threats on this question of sending volunteers into the Viet Nam war. It has been playing the brinkmanship game made popular by its hated enemy — the late John Foster Dulles."
